Francis Hole Enters C.P.S. At Big Flats

Professors on Campus Take Over Geology Department Until Dr. Hole's Return

Dr. Francis Hole, Earlham geology professor, left Friday, March 24, for Civilian Public Service Camp 46 at Big Flats, New York. He will remain there for three months before being assigned to detached service, the exact type not yet known.

Until the return of Dr. Hole, the geology department will be maintained by other professors on campus.

Holes Are Earlham Grads

Both Dr. and Mrs. Hole graduated from Earlham in 1933. Dr. Hole then took his masters degree in French at Middlebury college, Pennsylvania. Following this, he taught French and music at West-town school in Pennsylvania. Having majored in geology while at Earlham, Dr. Hole decided to obtain his doctor's degree in this subject and so enrolled at Wisconsin university.

Son Succeeds Father

Mr. Hole's studies were interrupted by the death of his father, Dr. Allen D. Hole, and he assumed his father's duties at Earlham. In 1940 Dr. Hole took a leave of absence and finished his work at Wisconsin university before returning here in 1943.

'Daddy' Hole

Dr. Allen D. Hole, familiarly called "Daddy" Hole, was the curator of the Joseph Moore museum, and obtained the world famous fossil beaver and giant mastodon. Succeeding his father as curator of the museum, Dr. Francis Hole took over the task of repairing the damage done by the Lindley hall fire. Dr. Hole also arranged the weekly displays in the glass case in front of the publicity office in Carpenter hall. Dr. Millard Markle will assume this work until the return of Dr. Hole.

In the absence of Dr. Hole, Mrs. Hole, formerly employed in the office of the registrar, will live with her parents in Indianapolis.

EASTER SUNDAY SERVICE PLANNED FOR 6:15 A. M. IN EARLHAM CEMETERY

College Red Cross Keeps 'Em Rollin'

Judy Richards Urges Students To Participate When Possible

A bandage rolling project which began Monday, April 3, introduced the program set up by the Earlham Red Cross unit.

Judy Richards, chairman of this project stated "People may come any time when the room on the second floor of the library is open and stay as long as they choose—even if they can work only half an hour they are welcome."

Richmond Women Instruct

Three women from the Richmond chapter spoke to a group of prospective workers Monday night. They brought supplies along and demonstrated just how the bandages are to be made.

Regulation headdresses are head bands for women, and for men, painters' caps. Women must wear either cotton dresses or work in smocks. Neither wool clothes nor nail polish is permissible.

Room Open Monday, Wednesday

Arrangements have been made so that students may wash their hands in the library before rolling bandages, and plans are in process for keeping the room and tables clean. Tentative hours for work in the bandage room are from 7 to 10 on Monday and Wednesday evenings.

The seventy-five dollar goal set for the Red Cross membership drive was reached and doubled. Committee in charge of the drive was Eddie Uyesugi, Portland, Oregon; Betty Lou Stevenson, Richmond, and Marijean Clark, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

All-College Bridge Tourney Sponsored by Phoenix Band

An all-student bridge tournament will be sponsored by Phoenix society. Anyone wishing to participate in this tournament may choose his partner and sign a sheet which will be posted Thursday in Carpenter hall. An entrance fee of ten cents must be paid by each contestant.

Members of the organization planning the event are Elizabeth Corbett, chairman, Ruthanna Borden, Ann Powell, and Ruth Ann Gorman.

Farlow, Walls Head Spring Term Staff

Lotte Kent, Eddie Uyesugi Promoted to Editorships

Ruth Anna Farlow, senior from Paoli, will act as editor-in-chief of The Earlham Post during the spring quarter. With Patricia Randall Miss Farlow co-edited The Post during the last two terms, and now, upon the resignation of Miss Randall, has assumed full editorship. Miss Farlow had her first experience as editor-in-chief during the 1943 summer term.

Mary Walls, senior from Knightstown, has been promoted to the position of managing editor. She held this post during the summer term, and this year she has worked as feature editor. For the spring term the position of feature editor has been abolished and an extra associate editorship has been added.

Bell, Oikawa Continue

Alice Bell, junior from Sheridan, who was promoted from the reportorial ranks at the beginning of the fall term, will continue in the capacity of associate editor. Katsu Oikawa, sophomore from Hart Mountain, Mont., also remains in the position of associate editor. Before coming to Earlham college, Miss Oikawa was society editor of The Hart Mountain Sentinel.

Kent, Uyesugi Complete Staff

Lotte Kent, junior from New York City, has been chosen to fill the remaining associate editorship. Miss Kent served in this capacity during the summer term of last year, and the past two terms she has written a weekly column.

Eddie Uyesugi, senior from Portland, Oregon, has been promoted from the reportorial staff to serve as sports editor. While a reporter he wrote sports stories and columns.

April Fifteen Dead Line For Ye Anglican Scrapbook

Dorothy Fujita, chairman of the Ye Anglican scrapbook committee, wishes to remind all students that April 15 is the dead line for submitting original literary work for consideration by the committee.

Any student interested may place his writings in the Ye Anglican box in the post office, or hand it to one of the English professors, to Dorothy Fujita or Mary Walls.

Dr. Garner Leads Lecture Series In Inter-Y Group

Speaker Seeks To Answer Questions Concerning Love, Courtship, and Marriage

Expecting to draw a capacity crowd at its lecture-forum series for April, the Inter-Y committee will present the first meeting of "Friendship, Courtship and Marriage" next Thursday evening at 7 p. m. in room 221, Carpenter hall. Dr. Murvel Garner, professor of biology, will conduct the lecture series.

Dr. Garner continues the discussion through the successive meetings of April 20 and May 4.

Marriage Problems Considered

Answers to such pertinent questions as: "Can a man be successfully married to a woman of broader and superior education?"; "In times like these, how can you tell whether you are in love with a fellow or just infatuated?"; and "How can an engagement be maintained through a long separation?" will be sought.

Church Subject of Discussion

Topics pertaining to "Christianity and the Church" are pending for May meetings, according to Henry Tanaka, secretary-treasurer of the Y. M. C. A. and chairman of the Inter-Y committee.

Inter-Y To Aid Students

The Inter-Y is composed of members from both the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. cabinets, and it was formed to help further the interest of students in developing these campus organizations while at the same time enabling them to discuss problems vital to student development.

SILBIGER EMPHASIZES FACT THAT AMERICANS DARE TO LAUGH

"Being in America has been one of the greatest experiences of my life," declared Norbert Silbiger, former director of Earlham dramatics and present director of the Richmond Civic theatre, in a chapel address Friday morning.

Mr. Silbiger, a native of Vienna, Austria, pointed out that the Europeans' misconception of the American people are partially due to the movies. He elaborated on the numerous social differences between European and American society. "The Americans," he said, "know the price, but not the value of things."

Streamlined Play Presents Brown In Leading Role

A streamlined version of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" has been selected by Director Howard G. Morgan as the year's second all-college production. The date set for presentation is Friday, April 21.

Portraying Viola, the feminine lead, is Dorothy Brown, sophomore from Indianapolis. Alfred Rigsbee, Arlington senior, takes the part of Sebastian, her twin brother. Miss Brown made her debut on the Earlham stage in the last all-college production, "The Pretentious Young Ladies." Rigsbee received his experience in the operetta "Patience" and "The Play's the Thing."

Earlham Professors Perform

Two Earlham professors will perform in this production. In addition to his duties as director, Mr. Morgan enacts the role of Malvolio, Olivia's steward. Professor Morgan's last stage appearance was in the Civic theatre's presentation of "The Man Who Came to Dinner." Further representing the faculty is David K. Bruner of the sociology department. Mr. Bruner, who fills one of the comedy leads, Sir Toby Belch, also has done Civic theatre work. He appeared in "Pillars of Society," "Death Takes a Holiday," and "Everyman."

Tucker, Johnson Perform

June Tucker of Plainfield and Charles Johnson, Wabash, also add to the comic element of the play. Miss Tucker played a comedy role in "Patience" while Johnson's only Earlham experience was in "The Pretentious Young Ladies" and the freshman chapel program.

Shaw, Zeuch Also in Cast

Another member of the cast who took part in "The Pretentious Young Ladies" is Virginia Zeuch, junior from Des Moines, Iowa. Miss Zeuch, director of Maskers' production "Red Flannels," characterizes Lady Olivia. Mark Shaw of Melrose, Mass., portrays the duke, Orsino. Shaw has performed in two all-college productions and recently played in Civic theatre's "Junior Miss." He is also cast in "Saint Joan." Other parts will be announced later.

MARIAN BURTON ELECTED MANAGER OF 1944-1945 GIRLS' NET TEAMS

Marian Burton, junior from Bristol, Pennsylvania, was elected girls' basketball manager for next year at the annual basketball banquet held at the end of last term. This banquet was given in honor of the four class teams.

Honorary varsity team for this season was announced at this meeting. It is made up of Martha Smith, senior from Richmond; Faith Maris, junior from Wilmington, Delaware; Marian Burton; Mary Alice Eise-man, Chevy Chase, Md.; Virginia Wolf, Morristown; Phyllis Weisheit, Connersville; Mary Louise Terrell, New Vienna, Ohio; and Jane Haramy, Indianapolis, all sophomores.

Total enrollment for the spring term now numbers two hundred thirty-three, but will probably be increased to two hundred forty before registration is completed.

Baseball Team Is On Casualty List

by Eddie Uyesugi

Intercollegiate baseball is definitely a casualty of war and will not be played at Earlham this year. Dean Van Dyke, who has coached the Earlham nine since his arrival on the campus, stated that it is not feasible to put an Earlham team on the field because of the lack of manpower, experience, and opponents that the Quakers could play.

But all hopes for college baseball are not gone. Dean Van Dyke also states that if there are enough men on the campus who are willing to play he will arrange some games with the industrial teams in Richmond.

While, on the other hand, Owen Huntsman has posted an inviting bulletin for the fellows of North Bundy. It reads as follows:

TRACK

Soap Up the Sunshine and Vitamins
Don't Drop an Earlham Tradition
Get Your Physical Education Credits
Have Fun! Develop!

Everything concerning track is still tentative and subject to change. Some of the fellows who have turned out, such as Fowler and Johnson, have received word from their draft board so that Huntsman is not sure that he can depend on them for any of the events, and although there are possibilities of meets with such schools as Franklin, DePauw, Washash, and Miami, it is not definitely known whether these contests will be held.

The Imposter

by Lotte Kent and Wes Matson

Evidently the babes in Earlham hall were not born with silver spoons in their mouths, but they certainly got a mouthful last Friday night . . . That individual who absconded with the Earlham hall card files is going to need a file to get out of where Commy is going to put him.

Since we are not going to have a baseball team this year, the fellows request that there be intramural baseball between the fellows and the girls—provided they get Martha Smith . . . That blonde is coming here again!!

Pat Randall certainly had a Weyle(d) time this week end.

Letter from the W. C. T. U.:

Dear Office Girl Finch:

Your enunciation is terrific. It's Bundy hall south, not Bundy hall soused!!

Enrollment figures for the spring quarter show: 233 students and 10,000,000 (+) cockroaches.

P. S. Speaking of figures, we like the new South American girl.

Earlham Work-Campers See Co-operation at Its Height

Co-operative living at its best—determination and informality! These are the inspiring characteristics of work-camp life experienced by Marty Reeder, Mardy Dearden, and Chris Frerichs, when attending an American Friends Service Committee work-camp in Indianapolis during this past spring vacation. This camp project is carried on in close co-operation with Old Flanner house, an organization which has done much to alleviate problems and better conditions in the Negro slum district.

The settlement sponsors a co-op cannery, sewing and cooking schools, a nursery, and employment agencies, the success of which has been proved by support given by the Negro people.

Silent Meeting Starts Day

At the work-camp, a half hour silent meeting starts off each day, after which the various jobs begin. When not on K. P. the campers may work in a machine shop where furnishings are being repaired and made for the New Flanner house. Nor were the evenings devoid of activity, for there was a meeting of the Co-operative Buying club, and a book review, sponsored by the Flanner House guild attended by 2,000 people.

Friendly Atmosphere Exists

The serious attitudes of the work-campers toward the slum problem were impressing, and already much headway has been made in creating a friendly atmosphere in the community. Visitors were constantly dropping in, and a sense of complete companionship and respect was felt by everyone.

Flanner house project is a big step toward eliminating racial discrimination but needs more complete understanding and co-operation from outsiders.
