Huge Enrollment Announced

Campus Commentator

THANK YOU
NEW FIELD HOUSE
FOR THE "MET"
SODA STAND

● MANY, MANY, THANKS to the Senior Class for their gift of $500,000, which will guarantee the completion of a new women's dorm by next September. The fund was raised through playing bingo and winning radio contests.

● THE ADMINISTRATION is to be complimented on the marvelous foresight in enlarging Trueblood field to include what is now known as Reid field, in addition to installing a basement.

● THE new gym will provide for six basketball courts, a practice football field and various other areas. The basement will be complete with Turkish baths and a 120-foot swimming pool.

● PRESIDENT DENNIS announced that a minimum of 25,000 students are expected at EARLHAM next fall. The rush of new enrollment is believed to be due to the announcement that now ice cream will be served with EVERY meal.

● THE COLLEGE has made provisions to board the excess of men students next fall at the Manor and the Richmond-Leland hotel, and in the basement of the new girl's dorm, while a new BUNDY HALL is in the process of building.

● CLARENCE "MOON" MULLINS was heard to say as he wrote out a check for $1,000 to help the METROPOLITAN OPERA COMPANY, "Can't afford to miss anything like that!"

● PLANS are under way for the construction of a soda emporium on College Corner.

KRAFT TO DRIVE STUDENT TEACHERS TO CLASSES IN CAR

● Today the Administration disclosed that Dr. Kraft will transport the Earlham college student teachers to and from their various schools in the new college Cadillac '40, when he recovers from his recent malady. Yes, students, strange as it may seem to all of you, Dr. Kraft . . . quite coincidentally. Back to the Cadillac. This newest acquisition is a gift from Miss Castator, made possible by her participation in a recent photographic contest. (Confidentially, we hear that "Snap" Wood is jealous, so there, too).

Miss Castator thought it only natural that since it was the picture of our beautiful Earlham girls that won her the car that she should share it with the students. Depreciation on the vehicle has already been terrific due to carrying out of pre-promised rides. Incidentally registration in education courses is expected to take a decided rise.

Senior Class To Donate Many New Buildings

● The Senior Class of 1940 has just voted to give some of their finances to the building of a new women's dorm and a new science building. With the enrollment at 25,000 these buildings are essential to the continuance of the efficiency of the college. With the huge enrollment there have been many buildings all over the campus but space remains still which is reserved for these two buildings.

While other buildings were springing up all around, the women's dorm fund and the science building fund have not increased more than a dollar a year. A space is still reserved on Comstock Field for the new dorm, plans for which were drawn up in 1848 A.D. when Earlham Hall became too crowded, just one year after the college was opened.

The Senior Class resolved to remedy this difficulty and have now made their wishes public. "Expense is not to be spared" said Dave Hawk, president. "We'll foot the bill, no matter the cost."

Besides these two donations the class also unanimously consented to buy a new water fountain for Carpenter Hall. It will be installed tomorrow.

Announce Plans For Building Swimming Pool

● Four hundred and fifty students will begin excavations for the new swimming pool, to be located on the Heart in front of Earlham Hall, immediately after Spring vacation. President Dennis has been using all his persuasive powers on the Board of Trustees for several years, but it was just this week that the Board gave their unanimous consent.

The principle use of the new swimming pool will be for the girls of Earlham Hall to dive into during fire drills. Huge lights will be placed around the pool and they will automatically be turned on when the fire drill signal is given.

The pool will also be used by the Biology department. Dr. Markle, Dr. Garner, and Mr. King clapped their hands in complete joy when they were told that they would be allowed to keep their entire collection of marine life in it. One animal, the crab, will be excluded from the pool because it is thought that it might discourage swimmers.

To save expenses the entire student body will assist in the building of this pool. All students will be expected to dig during their free hours. Smoking will be allowed and cokes will be served so that so much time will not be wasted in going back and to the Manor.

John Farr will be the general director of the excavation work and on his committee will be Jane Turner, Mary Campbell, Mary Daggy, Betty Eggmeyer, Emily Jean Semler, Dorothy Sharpless, and Jeanne McBrady.

KRAFT VICTIM OF PAINFUL AND UNFORTUNATE AILMENT

● A bevy of Earlham students were recently observed clamoring at the hospital doors of Earlham Hall. Braving dread bacilli, these devoted followers were seeking information on Dr. Milton Kraft, who recently acquired a most unusual disease, involving a general swelling of glands in the region of the neck.

Viennese specialists were imported and made the following statement as to his condition, "Dr. Kraft is suffering a specific infectious febrile disease, characterized by a nonsuppurative inflammation of the paratoid, and otherwise known as "mumps most contagious."

With all the evidences of spring appearing on the campus, it seems a shame that Dr. Kraft shall be unable to enjoy them to the fullest, and that he shall be unable to meet classes for five weeks as well.

LIBRARY CLOSED

● The Earlham library was closed late today when authorities, called from Washington, uncovered Communistic literature in the Quaker collection. For several months G-men have been watching Earlham believing that it is a hotbed of Communism from which powerful subversive elements were working.

G-Men cracked the case when they allegedly observed Sally Giest putting copies of the "Daily Worker" in the fan mail. Sally Giest and Elizabeth (Butch) Wright, believed to be leaders of the party, are being held without bail in the Wayne County Jail. More arrests are expected at any moment.

Students Here Reach Total Of 25,000

● It was officially announced in the Registrar's office this afternoon that the enrollment for the second semester is 25,000 students. According to statistics collected from universities and colleges throughout the country this number makes Earlham the largest educational institution in the country. It is now possible to take any type of course at Earlham that a student may want.

In announcing this figure the Head Registrar, Miss Thornburg, gave credit for the splendid increase over last year to hard-working Robert Huff and good-looking Lawrence Leland. The latter's influence explains the large number of beautiful women now enrolled. Of course these two men have a huge staff to aid them.

The publicity department of the university is still under the direction of Paul Ingels, now head of the College of Advertising. It was through his office that Earlham's chapel programs were so publicized as to play to Standing Room Only at 35 cents per seat. That their efforts have been so recognized has been a continual source of amazement to Earlham's faculty who furnish the programs.

In his advertising material Mr. Ingels has been aided by the splendid new buildings added to the campus. The new men's dorm is the last word in modern comfort and efficiency and has been built with special smoking parlors where students may entertain friends.

5 Students Out For Unamerican Activities

● "The subversive influence of politics must be kept out of Earlham at all cost," said President Dennis, when he expelled five students yesterday. Four sophomores and a freshman have been asked to leave for spreading aggressive war propaganda in favor of Germany. The Dennis Committee of Investigation of un-American Activities revealed to the board that Bill Hale, Earl Fowler, Lowell Cox, Wayne Guernsey and Butch Wright are in the pay of the dreaded Nazi Bund. They are charged with setting up a recruiting bureau to fight the Allies through the local Student Peace Volunteers. Cox and Miss Wright were caught red-handed with large quantities of pro-war propaganda by Miss Geist, when she came to throw them out of the libe basement for making too much noise. Fowler, who has just finished two plays and sixteen poems proving the beauty and necessity of war, was caught misappropriating 16 cents from the treasury of the Peace group for a fund to buy Germany an airplane. Hale and Guernsey are in league with these three. The group issued a statement "As members of the Peace Volunteers, we have made a careful study of the situation, and find that there is no way out but making the world safe for totalitarianism."

MYRICK NABBED FOR CRUELTY TO ANIMALS

● Judge Schnizel of the City court announced yesterday afternoon that a prominent Earlham student, Miss Dorothy Myrick, had been confined to the City Jail since Monday morning on charges preferred by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Dumb Animals.

When questioned, an official of the society said that the defendant had been caught in the act of attacking, with deliberate and malicious intent, one small black cockroach which chanced to cross Miss Myrick's path as she was preparing to retire for the evening. The instrument used was a murderous-looking black foot.

In view of the brutal nature of her crime "Mike" will be held without bail until the day of the trial, which will be Monday morning, April first.

Y. M. C. A. SWIMMING POOL BEING USED UNTIL NEW HEART POOL IS READY

● The local Y. M. C. A. swimming pool is being used by the Women's Physical Education department until the new Earlham Heart pool is completed. Bud Weber has just placed a notice on all bulletin boards, written in her well known left-handed script, notifying all dorm girls that they must learn to dive. This is imperative since the new swimming pool on the Heart is to be used as the catch-all during all fire drills in the future.

Fowler Named Candidate For Nobel Award

Twelve members of Ye Anglican stared at one another in wild amaze, and the china chattered on Miss Davis's shelves as Earl Fowler, candidate for the Nobel Prize, read his peace play at Ye Anglican's meeting Wednesday night at the home of Miss Davis. Fowler's gift for depicting with brutal realism the horrors of war came into full play in this latest production of his pen, and his verbal rendition of the play left his hearers too weakened and nerve-shattered to enjoy to the fullest the delicious refreshments served by the Misses Davis. Fowler is being considered by the Nobel commission, established by the famous inventor of dynamite, Albert Nobel, to receive this year's prize for his play, and all lovers of peace are rooting for him to get not only the drama prize but also the prize granted to the person most instrumental in popularizing peace on earth this year.

Besides fostering Fowler, Anglican's latest understanding is the production of the annual Scrapbook, which is a collection of the best literary works of students for the year. If finances can be managed it is planned to have the Scrapbook printed this time, instead of the usual mimeographing; printing makes a much classier job. All students who can write are urged to bring forth something for the book, or bring back past efforts to hand in to Jo Ann Martin, Miriam Wayman, or Earl Fowler himself right after vacation. (Note: This paragraph is no bull!)

Anglican also voted to install Robert Frost or Mansfield or Markham or something like that—anyway, the poet who is coming out to speak soon, the Public Occasions Committee hopes—as an honorary member, upon payment of the usual 50 cents dues, of course. With this bit of business the meeting was adjourned and the members settled down to enjoy the aforementioned refreshments.

EINSTEIN WILL SPEAK AT E. C. MEETING

Doctor Albert Einstein will address a joint meeting of the Earlham Science club and the Indiana section of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at 8:00 on Monday evening, April 15. The meeting will be the first of a series of three evening addresses scheduled for April 15, 16, and 17.

The distinguished guest will be introduced to the group by Professor George Van Dyke, who for the past two summers has collaborated with Dr. Einstein in research work at Princeton University.

The address will be in defense of the theory of relativity which during the last year has been seriously challenged by Dean H. Randolph Pyle and Prof. D. C. Miller of the Case School of Applied Science. Dean Pyle will present experimental evidence backing the existence of an "etherial drift." This idea is in opposition to the basic assumption made by Einstein in the development of the theory of relativity.

The Associated Press will depend on POST coverage for their reports of the meetings.

HUGE CROWD CHEERS DRAMATIC FROSH PROGRAM

Above is but a small section of the huge crowd that cheered the presentation of the freshman program recently. The talent of the class completely amazed the whole school, most of all, the freshmen themselves.

Varsity Meets All-Stars In Night Game

By Harold Zimmerman

It was midnight on the ocean
Not a streetcar was in sight;
Two teams were on Reid Field
One warm, moonlit night.

Now that is a heck of an introduction for one of the outstanding athletic events that ever occurred at Earlham. You see it was this way: Coach J. O. "Beau" Huntsman had his gallant little group of grid ironers all keyed for the annual spring football fracas between the next year's varsity squad and Clara "Ziggy" Comstock's All-Stars Frolics of 1940, the greatest extravaganza of scintillating pulchritude west of Richmond.

Eleven of Earlham's stalwart men had their warmups and were waiting impatiently for their opponents to come. A hush came over the stadium as though brought on by some mysterious force, and then it came! It, the shrill wail of a trumpet, was followed by the synopated rhythm of a Dixieland band. With such a fanfare the All-Stars clad in appropriate outfits came out on the gridiron and started to truck.

After some time had passed Referee Bob Noe, sensing the crowd's anxiety in witnessing the game, went over to the All-Stars' great little captain, "Butch" Wright, in an attempt to get the contest started. Not liking the orders of Noe, "Butch" firmly and none too gently bite the official's finger that was being wagged in front of her proboscis.

Since everybody is familiar with the Earlham varsity football team we will leave out its description. However, the All-Stars, a conglomeration of the outstanding athletes (?) from all over the country, are not so well-known to everybody.

Here is a thumbnail description of the All-Stars' lineup: At Left End we have Peg "144" Gross—this player a flash up north is strong on defense mainly because of her rushing ability. She also can catch more than her share of the passes.

The two tackle positions will be taken care of by two of the huskier members of the squad namely—"Shanty" Hogan and Jeanne "Wildman" McBrady. These two players can tackle anything.

Left Guard will be played by Mary "Shiftless" Polk, a real Hoosier. A human dynamo and a very fine bolster for this team's forward wall.

Foslers Offer Services As Fine Chaperons

Professor and Mrs. Daniel Fosler have just announced that they will be available as chaperons at any time and for any occasion.

This fine couple recently proved to be very popular as chaperons when the Social Science Club of the dear old Alma Mater took a trip to Chicago. They enjoyed Ted Weems at the Edgewater Beach Hotel as much as the students did, which is always something to consider when choosing chaperons.

Professor and Mrs. Fosler have consented to chaperon any picnics planned for this spring, and have agreed to bring along their own blankets. They have also invited any thirsty students to come to their home after the next 9 o'clock dance and have a few short ones. Upon their consent Miss Comstock will give permission to girls visiting them to stay out a little later.

In Winnie "Left" Wright, the All-Stars have the nation's best center. Unerring accuracy shown in practice in pitching the ball . . . Used as a roving center on defense because she can weaken any other team's line.

At Right Guard there is the one only Dot "Warhorse" Sharpless, the representative from the East . . . A firm foundation for this team.

"Scarlett" Kamp was chosen unanimously by the "Boys" on third west as Right End. She is a good pass receiver but very shifty . . . Evades all tacklers . . . Plays with a cold heart toward all opposition.

The brains of this eleven is none other than the quarterback, Betty "Ducky" Bowen . . . Is very deceptive as one is unable to determine in what direction, in what manner, at what time she is going to go.

Right Halfback is the only red-head on the team—Janie "Red" Stickney. Looking at the situation from this author's angle, this elusive, intriguing player is the hardest one to catch once she gets into the open.

Last but not least there is the captain of this gala array of stars, "Butch" Wright and that is 'nuff said. "Butch" has a mild case of water on the knee and it is possible that "Gruesome" Newsome will take over her position if the captain runs into trouble.

Here and There

Collections are being made for an appropriate musical instrument to accompany Cueball Craig's adorable new coiffeur.

The noted Emile Postum, in his recent visit to the Earlham Campus in search of cute customs, was much perturbed at the conventionality of conduct on the part of the majority of students, particularly in Earlham dining room and in the parlors. "Most uninteresting," he termed it.

With all the talk regarding the unfortunate Barbour-Kraft episode, we almost forgot to mention our latest coincidence. Where is Eleanor? Could tonsillitis be in sympathy with poor John?

We have it on the Q. T. that Myron is considering contracts with N. T. G., in answer to a certain advertisement.

Just ask Gingery what he knows about dishwashing as a part of the college curriculum.

The Daydodgers announce a new service for Doghouse Dormers. Stuff (connotation borrowed from scripture), will include alibi-ikers, dance lodging, and cousins or what have they for date occasions. Bring any complaint on anything around, for their apt attention.

Wasn't the brew just lovely at the big Feud girls? Poachers present promptly persecuted ask, (with a price) that names be withheld please. Efforts at leg disguise were pitiful. Me Too.

Where, oh, where did that new tux shirt walk to? Fireworks predicted on or about the next formal.

Oh yes, just a gentle reminder: It seems that the All-Stars went out and took a powder and forgot to return. That wasn't so bad because the officials decided to postpone the game later and they called the game on account of lighthness.

Earlham Kid Wallops Cyclone

SPORT SLANTS

By BILL JOHNSON

Stops Cuban In Second Heat Of Hard Fight

Earlham's blood thirsty fight fans peered upon one of the goriest bouts in history last Friday night. The combatants, were Manuel Ferrero Toledano, the Cuban Cyclone and Forrest Glenn Wood Jr., known to the local fans as the "cream puff Kid."

The fisticuffs engagement was brought about by the fact that Toledano's manager, Dude Robertson, persuaded Toledano to duplicate "the Kid's" patented hair cut. This move brought results as "Yussel" Borton, Junior's manager, immediately scheduled a bout. J. Whollinton Kuethe was engaged as call man.

The Cuban entered the ring first and was greeted by mingled cheers and boos. Wood, upon entering, took off his robe and displayed upon his expanded chest a tattoo of the 1940 Sargasso. The instructions were given in two languages as the Cuban cannot as yet understand English. As the gong sounded, both fighters rushed from their corners and met in the center of the ring. Here they scowled at each other and called each other various names, the Cyclone conversing in Spanish while the Kid listened in American. J. Whollinton Kuethe acted as a catalyst to the match when he interpreted a few of Ferrero's remarks. Junior drew first blood when, after he had backed the Cuban into his corner, swung a roundhouse, and as Toledano ducked, the blow landed squarely upon Manager Borton's protruding bezer.

The boys were content to clinch the remainder of the round.

Round two opened with a bang as Toledano, having received a pep talk by Robertson, tore into Glenn with cyclonic fury and before the Kid regained his composure, he had lost one ear, three teeth, and the cover off the 1940 Sargasso. Wood, in an attempt to cover up the dedication page, went into his famous goose-stoop crouch. While in this position, Junior, previously showing signs of hunger, chewed a toe off the Cuban, not having the necessary teeth to do a clean job.

The Kid came out of this position quickly and delivered a furious blow, typical of all clean living lads, flush on the lower maxillary of the pride of Cuba. Even the ref, who was slopping up a cold brew and a hot dog, could see that it was all over for Toledano and immediately came into the ring and raised the Cream Puff's arm.

From last reports it seems that Toledano has a 50-50 chance of speaking Spanish again.

the Boilermakers. Our sincere apologies to Messrs. Dick Tracy, Tony Diaz, Captain Hylton, Bob Martin, Bob Lawrence, Blake Huddleston, the real chumps (we mean champs) and to the Boilermakers, champions for a week, we say better luck next time, if there is one.

Diamond Sport Again Claims E. C. Interest

Now that (according to the calendar) spring has come, and that warm spring breezes might start blowing soon, attention is being turned to the outdoors and outdoor sports. One outdoor sport your attention should be turned to in particular is the national game of baseball.

When the grass grows green on Van Dyke Field (right smack dab on the east of the cem) and the crack of the bat on the ball rings out right realistically, then the Earlham lads and lassies know it is time for baseball again.

The average Earlham coed manages to struggle out to the field along towards the middle of the melee, complaining because she missed the first part since the game started on time. Upon reaching the field, she takes a bleacher seat and begins to be bored, although she is really interested in the handsome visiting pitcher.

"Come on George, let's go," she perfunctorily urges as the Maroons come up to bat.

She claps loud and long as the first man up gets a base on balls and is quite proud of her team.

"Come on—Erlum!" she mumbles as the second batter comes up. She is very disgusted as the visiting pitcher bears down and proceeds to strick the batter out.

"Yeah-Earlham!" she lightly remarks. Then she is exasperated as that handsome, red-haired third baseman grounds out, and is about to commit hari-kari as the visiting fielder manages to pull down a sure hit (a weak pop fly back of second.)

As the visitors come up, she rails at them vigorously, but is scared to death that they will hear and also includes that robber in blue with the big pad on his underslung chest in her remarks.

She almost becomes ill when the shortstop knocks down a hot one that a major leaguer couldn't handle and a visitor reaches first. And as a couple of runs are made on an error (everybody makes mistakes—that's what they put erasers on pencils for) she is about gone.

The inning winds up with Earlham ahead 4 runs. However, she leaves because the visitors made 2 runs that inning and there are three innings left and so the visi-

Women's Sports

Many tournaments are being finished off now that vacation is at hand.

Your reporter finds it hard to understand the complete failure of the freshmen in the basketball games. It seems that every day was a bad day for their forwards, and their guards, Hornbrook, Cromer, and Pennell, need more competitive practice.

Pudge Miller and Miriam Hoover will meet tomorrow in the final round of the pick-up-sticks tournament. This tournament has been one of the most exciting and lively of our winter season. Pudge is the favorite as she won over last year's champion, Liz White, in a breath taking match on Friday.

Dulaney has just been announced as the unofficial spit-in-the-ocean champ. Those pits have sprouted queen Anne cherry blossoms for the cutting garden, and also fire-escape camouflage.

The tiddly-winks and jacks will have to be postponed until after vacation.

Despite a sprained arm and a toothache, Sinclair managed to take final honors in the hop-scotch tournament. In a daring match Sinny hopped her way to victory over Ardath Anders who showed real ability in the difficult game.

tors will probably win by a couple of runs. Anyway, she has to go over and get her mail (or male) before dinner.

Golf Sked Completed By 3 Matches

The complete golf schedule which did not appear in last week's Post is as follows:

April 21 — Purdue, there; April 28 — Exhibition match with Byron Nelson, Sammy Snead, and Gene Sarazen; May 1 — Podunk State, in connection with May Day celebration.

In addition to lettermen Wright and Corsi and newcomer Garrison, the golf team is counting on Joe Payne and Gus Yount to help preserve the undefeated record. Also, Tom Lewis and Chuck Laudemann have turned in 71's on miniature golf courses, but it is not known how well they can adapt themselves to large scale links.

Mr. Binford announces that extensive repairs will be made on Earlham's links and that it will be christened "Cemetery Hills Public Links." Joe Bland will serve as professional, providing he can pick up a golf club and a ball during spring vacation.

Pres. Mildred H. McAfee of Wellesley College this spring will be the first woman ever to give a baccalaureate address at Purdue University.

Peter "Seabiscuit" Flinterman did his part at the Butler Relays. Pete was running in one of the relays and was required to go five laps. It seems he made a slight error of one lap and handed Bob Gingery the baton at the end of the fourth. Thus Earlham failed to get her point for finishing in that relay. In case you are interested, this actually happened.

Senator Bob McMullin barely failed to make the golf team last Saturday morning. The Senator, determined to become Earlham's athletic surprise, oiled up his umbrella and challenged Dick Wright for the No. 1 position on the Maroon's golf squad. Dick and the 2,500 spectators received the shock of their life when McMullin drove off the first tee. Using his new "phantom" stroke, which consists of sticking the ball on the handle of the umbrella and floating it up to the cup, Bob landed his tee shot only 4 inches from the hole. Wright, however, was playing the golf of his life and was only one hole down with two to go when McMullin, looking at his watch, called off the match. It was just about time for the Saturday afternoon opera to begin and Bob had forgotten his radio!

Baseball coach George Van Dyke, unable to make the southern trip because of an unexpected case of the mumps, announced from his sick bed that the squad would go anyway. Van Dyke assigned to managing and coaching jobs to those two dependable freshmen stars, John "Speed" Schmidt and Roger "the Lodger" Laudermann. The boys announced that the probable batteries for the opening would be Schmidt pitching and Laudermann catching.

Tom Lewis, newly appointed Varsity Club executive, announced today that wrestling captain, Don Morris, would receive the "E" blanket for his splendid performances of this winter. When asked how he developed his wonderful physique, Morris, sustaining a growl, answered that clean living and an active life were the two reasons for highly developed body. Morris and "Elsie" Milner, boxing captain, will put on an exhibition next week to settle the long unsettled problem of "which comes first, the hen or the egg?"

Intramurally

The intramural column wishes to publish a retraction of last week's report that Bland's Boilermakers had won the A league championship. We were informed by courses usually authoritative that the Boilermakers had won the league. However, we were promptly and irately informed by the champion Wolverines that such was not the case. Hylton's Wolverines actually took a 39-25 decision from

Candidate On Democratic 1940 Slate

● Dr. William Cullen Dennis, it was announced today, will run for president of the United States in the 1940 election on the Democratic ticket. This startling announcement came as a complete surprise to the college community and the local campus has been in a state of bedlam all day. The students are unable to understand this decision since they are well acquainted with the fact that Dennis was supposed to become Hitler's adviser on foreign affairs and was to sail for Germany the first of July to take over that position. All that is changed now.

Dr. Dennis states he will do all in his power to put our country back on the rocks, if he is elected. Since he is unaccustomed to meeting people the Dale Carnegie personality institute has kindly agreed to undertake the task of making a leader of him.

Paul Ingels has been selected to handle all of the publicity for the campaign and promises to show the world that his candidate can hunt and fish as well as any previous candidate. This is no doubt the hardest job Mr. Ingels has ever undertaken. "From Earlham to the White House" will be the party slogan, a suggestion of Miss Martha Pick, who is chairman of the "Dennis for President" committee.

In the near future Dr. Dennis and his supporters will hold a rally in the basement of the Green Lantern Cafe. There will be plenty of beer and cigars for everyone who cares to attend. After his election Dr. Dennis promises to install in the faculty room a compact little bar which will be open to the student body. He is also planning to do all in his power to stop all this silly relief business so that Earlham students will be relieved of the necessity of frugal meals. Instead the government will devote all of its efforts to building up the army and the navy. This can be called genuine patriotism.

Dennis for Democratic President!

Great Horse Show Billed For E. C. Campus

● Ladies and Gentlemen, the March of Time takes great pleasure in announcing that out in Earlham, Indiana, plans are being made for the Quinquennial World Horse Show. It is the only thing of its kind in the world's history, and the war will be discontinued for a week so that all nations may attend. The great event will take place in the back pasture, a site specially designed by experts for that purpose. In case of rain an indoor arena is being built on the football field. Already the Vanderbilts and Du Ponts have enlisted their horses, and ace horses from all over the world are being vigorously trained. Only riders of the very best are allowed to enter this AAAA show, and elimination contests are underway now.

The events of the show are too good to be told at random, but in passing we make mention of several minor parts: a demonstration by the Northwest Mounted Police, a bucking broncho contest between Hitler and Mussolini, and a roller skating race. Right now three persons of sufficient knowledge, fame, and distinction are being sought for judges. Tickets have been selling by the thousands, having been printed in all languages, including Eskimo. Due to the war's vacation, we expect a very full attendance.

M. C. Ingels Chosen To Star In Picture on Life of First Lady

● Miss Mary Caroline Ingels, one of the most outstanding and socially prominent coeds on the Earlham campus, has just received word that she has been chosen to play the most coveted role in present-day Hollywood. Miss Ingels, well known for her superior acting ability, was chosen from among five hundred candidates to play the leading role in the forthcoming cinema production based on the life of the first lady of our land, Eleanor Roosevelt.

For years Miss Ingels has been striving for this chance and has been practicing constantly in order to acquire the proper speaking voice. In a private interview, she stated that she stands before her mirror for hours at a time, attempting to mimic the various facial expressions of the famous Eleanor. Her distinct resemblance to the first lady, clearly recognizable by all who know her well, was an important reason for her unanimous choice by the committee composed of various Hollywood directors and producers.

A nation-wide campaign has been conducted in order to find the perfect Eleanor and the committee is Miss Ingels. Her prominence in campus activities has been received with enthusiasm by the press agents who are this week introducing her to the public in a huge surge of national publicity.

At the present time Miss Ingels is president of Musk and Mistletoe, National Collegiate Brayers, and Phoenix to you Band, and is chairman of the Men's Precedent Committee. Her position of responsibility and her close association with the Campfire Girls have given her opportunity to acquire the graces and popularity which accompany Mrs. Roosevelt on all her journeys. Being a much-travelled woman herself, Miss Ingels is an absolute "natural" for the part.

The premiere of the motion picture will be held in Miss Ingels' home town, the world-renowned Kokomo, Indiana, where the In-gels family, the leaders of the local "four hounded," dwell in their famous million dollar estate. Miss Ingels' brother, the very popular Mr. Paul Ingels, is acting as his sister's manager and is conducting the publicity campaign, hoping to shed some glory on Earlham College as well as to glorify his favorite sister.

The leading man has not yet been chosen but it is generally conceded that Miss Ingels will do her best work if she is permitted to play opposite Mortimer Snerd. The final choice will be made April first and work on the production will begin as soon as the leading lady receives her diploma from Earlham. She will fly to Washington to be a guest at the White House for several weeks so that she may study the personal life of the wife of the president.

Mrs. Roosevelt expresses an intense desire to meet Miss Ingels at the earliest possible date and may arrive on the local campus soon to spend a few days with her double.

When asked if she would like to make a statement to the press, Miss Ingels, with a magnanimous gesture, said, "My friends, I am completely overwhelmed with the importance of my good fortune. Franklin says he knew I could do it. My Day has been a happy one."

McMULLIN HEADS

NEWLY NAMED

A. W. S. BOARD

● After Spring vacation Bob McMullin will be the new president of the Association of Women Students. He will take the place of Margaret Sinclair whose term expires this week.

On the A. W. S. board with Bob will be Jack Phillips, Joe Bales-trieri, Butch Wright, and Eleanor Hogan. McMullin has announced that he will keep a strict check on the Manor and library each evening to make sure that all girls do not forget to sign out properly. "Mr. Phillips will have charge of checking students in at the library, but I shall personally take down the names of all students at the Manor."

Ionian Plans Gigantic New Chorus Revue

● Ionian Society for Men has decided to produce its own chapel program in competition with the many that have been presented this year. It will be a Chorus Girl Revue and John Farr will direct the dancers. "Members of the chorus will be taken from the Phoenix Band and also will be chosen from prominent students on the campus," said Harry Voyles, president of Ionian.

"We shall begin rehearsals immediately with the girls who have already been chosen," said Mr. Farr in an interview this morning. "All those whose names are listed below are asked to report on the stage in Goddard at 7:15 Wednesday evening. First I shall read an essay or two and a few poems and then we shall do some limbering-up exercises before practicing the dance."

Those in the first row of the chorus are Charleen Cosand, Jane Dulaney, Estelle Burton, Betty Taylor, Jane Meader, Tony Childs, and Peg Gross. In the second row will be M. J. Taylor, Julia Sperling, Jean Campbell, Ardath Anders, Virginia Raiford, Eleanor Hogan and Butch Wright.

Jean Cambell will be Prima Ballerina and Helen Dillon will be her understudy.

AMAZON FOOTBALL TO GET UNDER WAY AFTER VACATION

● Amazon football training will get underway soon. The girls have a unique method for choosing their captain for the coming season. On April 8th, there will be an attempt made by the girls on the squad to catch a greased pig. The lucky female who can grab and hold the live pig-skin will be next seasons captain.

The linemen will be McCambridge, McBrady, J. Campbell, Johnny Johnson, Turner, Cosand, and Hornbrook. Others on the squad are Daggy, Cromer, Sinclair, Sharpless, Dulaney, and Butch Wright. Mary Polk is considered the toughest tackle. Prospective bench warmers are Meader, DeMoll, Martin, Fuller, Burton, Wilson, and Moore. Carr is an outstanding prospect for second half.

The games away already scheduled are Long Island University, Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard, and Yale. The Amazons will finish next season by spending a weekend with the Navy.

KRAFT VICTIM

However, Earlham students have taken matters into their own hands and have initiated a "Sunshine Spreaders" club, which will endeavor to bring Dr. Kraft a few moments of cheer during his darker days. The club will bring fruit and flowers and will tell Dr. Kraft all the latest happenings on the Earlham campus, while Miss Barbour accompanies on the piano.

Although Dr. Kraft is progressing rapidly on the road to health, he is still in a state of amazement. "In all sincerity," he said, "I can't understand how it happened."
