

Alumni Notes.

John Chawner, '64, is now the principal of Whittier Academy, Whittier, California.

— Miss Mary Trueblood, '93, who graduates at Ann Arbor this year, made a short visit to friends at the college on the way to her home for vacation.

Old Earlhamites are always found in company with each other, and a glance at Penn College, Iowa, will show that that institution is not an exception to the rule.

Lulu Moorman, '93, who has been confined to her bed for fourteen weeks, is slowly recovering, and on the 13th of this month received, as a birthday surprise, letters and gifts from over forty of her friends.

A. Rosenberger, '76, is the popular and efficient president of the college, now in his sixth year, under whose administration the college has made much progress, maintaining a standing in the first rank among Iowa colleges.

J. Edwin Jay, '94, principal of the Carthage High school, took a very prominent part in the late Christian Endeavor Convention which was held there. He has a very interesting account of the meeting in the last number of the American Friend.

Dr. Wm. L. Pearson, '75, has charge of the Biblical department. From this department, only four years old, quite a number of ministers, missionaries and other Christian workers have gone out. Nine or ten Christian denominations have been enrolled in its classes.

Wm. S. Windle, at one time professor of chemistry at Earlham, is now professor of biology and chemistry at Penn. On beginning a course of study in the Illinois Medical College last summer, he was at once invited to the chair of histology, which he filled with satisfaction to all while he pursued his special work. On September the 10th he was united in marriage to Miss Gertrude Bailey, who was for several years in charge of the department of drawing and painting at Earlham. Mrs. Windle now fills a similar position at Penn College.

Personals and Locals.

HARLOW LINDLEY, '97.
CLARA BROWN, '98.

ETHEL GRIMES, '96.
F. R. VAN NUYS, '98.

— Leap year!

— Attention, West Earlham!

— Seniors, how about your theses?

— Santa made his rounds on a bicycle this year.

— Miss Margaret Moon has been on the sick list.

— Florence Henley spent vacation in Cincinnati.

— Have you resolved to study or have fun this term?

— Lewis and Brian McGary will attend Purdue next term.

— Clarence Burkholder visited Bloomingdale during vacation.

— Ed DeHority spent the holidays at his home in Elwood.

— Gertrude Simmons spent vacation with friends at Wabash.

— Isaiah Furnas, '95, and Warren Barrett visited friends at Paoli.

— Levi Shoemaker visited his sister, Miss Martha, on the 19th.

— Ida Mendenhall visited her sister at Westfield during vacation.

— Hettie Hunt spent Sunday, the 15th, with friends in Richmond.

— Bertha Johnson visited relatives in Richmond during vacation.

— Miss Harris' sister and niece will spend the holidays in Richmond.

— James Divan took supper at the college on the evening of the 7th.

— Prof. and Mrs. Russell made a short visit at Cincinnati over the 21st.

— Amanda Moore spent part of her vacation with her uncle at Fairmount.

— Martha Hunnicutt spent vacation with friends at Wilmington, Ohio.

ORATORICAL.

This has been a week of unusual interest to all students. The class contests have come and gone again, and now efforts will be exerted anew for the College contest to be held February 1st, after which all class distinctions will quietly step aside and all will be joined in a common brotherhood to support our representative at the State contest. May there be the loyal support given which is due our contestant who spends so much time and energy in the interest of the College. Meanwhile, let everything that can be done to aid your representative at the College contest be not neglected. Let it be the strongest ever held. This contest will be held in the auditorium in Lindley Hall instead of in the Opera House, as has been the custom heretofore.

The Senior class began the program of the primary contests at 7:30, January 13. The contestants, with subjects, were as follows:

- "Era of Cosmopolis"..... Irving King.
 "After Christianity—what?"..... Ray White.
 "Progress of Reform"..... George O. Ballenger.
 "Westward Bound Opulence"..... Elmer W. Stout.
 "The Present Religious Crisis"..... Curtis Newsom.

Mr. Ballenger was awarded first place and Mr. Stout second. They will represent the class on the final. The oration of Mr. White, who was awarded third place, appears in this issue.

On Tuesday evening, January 14, occurred the Sophomore contest, as follows:

- "Christ in History"..... Bevan Binford.
 "The Forge of Destiny"..... Myrtle Mitchell.
 "Higher Citizenship"..... Fred Van Nuys.

The Sophomore and Freshmen classes have but one representative each for the College contest. The honor of representing the Sophomore class was awarded to Bevan Binford.

FRESHMAN CLASS CONTEST PROGRAM.

Class song.

1. The Rights of the Negroes Aman Moore.
2. American Patriotism Royal Davis.
Piano Solo—Miss Dickinson.
3. Side by Side Gertrude Simmons.

Decisions—1st, Miss Simmons; 2d Mr. Moore.

DAY STUDENTS' ELECTION.

The day students—take notice it's no longer "day dodger" since the opening of the new parlor—spent the noon hours of the first week of school electing officers. A glance at the following list will show that the time was well spent, and that they have reasons to be proud of the officers elected.

Her Majesty, the Dogessa of the day students, Olive Kaminsky; Her Royal Highness, the Vice Dogessa, Emma Nolte; Grand Scribe, Marion White; Grand Epistolean, Miss Thurston; Lord High Treasurer, Miss Ridenour; Lord High Chamberlain, Miss Dickinson; First Assistant, Miss Burchenal; Second Assistant, Miss Lilian Kaminsky; Grand Steward, Edgar Stranahan; Vice Steward, Clement Fihe.

Truly the cloud formerly about the heads of the day students has become a nimbus of glory. Library order is maintained in the new parlor, and all are very well satisfied with this arrangement.

Directories.

IONIAN SOCIETY.

President—Irving King.
 Vice-President—Allen D. Hole.
 Recording Secretary—R. F. Hester.
 Corresponding Secretary—J. B. Gordon.
 Librarian—Bevan Binford.
 Marshal—A. E. Jones.
 Critic—A. D. Parkhurst.
 Vice-Critic—Fred Van Nuys.

LITERARY COMMITTEE.

First Member—Geo. O. Ballenger.
 Second Member—Porter Cook.
 Third Member—C. E. Cosand.

PHOENIX SOCIETY.

President—A. Gail White.
 Vice-President—Ethel Grimes.
 Recording Secretary—Ethel Parsons.
 Corresponding Secretary—Elizabeth Wilson.
 Librarian—Leona Wright.
 Marshal—Mary Cowgill.
 Critic—Anna Roop.
 Vice-Critic—Mary Hussey.

LITERARY COMMITTEE.

First Member—Clara Brown.
 Second Member—Llora Worley.
 Third Member—Emma Clark.

CLASS OF '97.

President—Minnie Roop.
 Vice-President—Harlow Lindley.
 Secretary—Myrton Johnson.
 Marshal—Arthur Chace.

CLASS OF '98.

President—A. E. Kelsey.
 Vice-President—Mary Scott.
 Secretary—Lydia Fletcher.
 Marshal—Bennett Gordon.

CLASS OF '99.

President—Celia Wood.
 Vice-President—E. De Hority.
 Secretary—Llora Worley.
 Marshal—Ethel Stanley.

CURRENT LITERATURE CLUB.

The Club held its first meeting of the term on the evening of the 14th. The officers as elected were:

Secretary—Grace Maddock.
 Critic—A. Gail White.
 Vice-Critic—Elizabeth Wilson.

THE EARLHAMITE.

PUBLISHED SEMI-MONTHLY

DURING THE SCHOOL YEAR

BY THE

IONIAN AND PHENIX SOCIETIES,

EARLHAM COLLEGE, RICHMOND, IND.

FEBRUARY 15, 1896.

IONIAN.	EDITORS.	PHENIX.
CHALMERS HADLEY, '96.	EMMA MADDOCK, '96.
BUSINESS MANAGERS.
ELMER W. STOUT, '96.	ISADORE H. WILSON, '96.
ASSOCIATE EDITORS.
ALLEN D. HOLE, '97.	MARTHA SHOEMAKER, '97.
ASSISTANT BUSINESS MANAGERS.
ALFRED H. SYMONS, '97.	ANNA ROOP, '97.

TERMS: $1.25 PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.
CLUB RATES: FIVE COPIES, $6.00.

THE EARLHAMITE is sent to subscribers until ordered stopped, and all arrearages are paid.

Direct all Communications to THE EARLHAMITE, Richmond, Indiana.

THE EARLHAMITE is entered at the Richmond Postoffice as second class matter.

INTERLUDE.

Board meets.—Seniors give a mock contest at Saturday evening social.—The Freshmen give a reception in honor of Miss Gertrude Simmons.—A series of meetings are conducted by Mr. Helm, from De Pauw.—Seniors enjoy themselves at a reception given at the home of Miss Schneider, one of their number.—Miss Coggeshall gives a very interesting biography of Mary Lyon in chapel.—Everybody on time at breakfast—what can be the reason?

IN GLANCING over a back number of our paper, an editorial of particular merit, and particularly applicable to our needs at present, was discovered. It is as follows: "Those things that will serve us through life are the things students desire to grasp firmly. We hope we may be able to note at the close of the year an increased loyalty to our societies. We have two points in view, viz: Literary improvement and familiarity with parliamentary usage. If we fail in either, we do not meet the true purpose of our organizations. The regular routine of business does not broaden our knowledge in all points. New questions and new phases of questions will bring us out and increase our knowledge in detailed points of 'rules of order.' Such furnish us with material that can be adapted to practical life, though perhaps not very entertaining at the time."

No CONVINCING argument is necessary to prove that it is the "all-around" college man, and not the "one-themed," biased crank, or the bookworm, who is most in demand. So it is with the college paper. It is not only the privilege, but the duty of a college exponent to represent, and to represent fairly, all phases and departments of the institution, whether there be merits or demerits, or both. The field, though not so broad as that of the newspaper, is just as liberal so far as it goes.

IT HAS become an established principle in the science of education that the greatest good to be derived from an education such as is comprised in a course of study in school or college, is not the additional store of knowledge which is gained from the branch studied, but the added ability which the mind gains to grapple with difficult problems. The prominence given to this principle has had a bad effect in one direction; for it has led to the idea derived by false inference, that if a knowledge of details is not the chief thing in an education, therefore the hard work of mastering the details of a branch may be omitted. It is well for us to appreciate the broad principle of the purpose of education; but it is also necessary that we do not allow it to interfere with thorough work. A moment's thought will show that if the minor feature be neglected, the major cannot be attained, since it is implied that the greater good—the increased mental strength—only comes through the careful work which neglects nothing, however small. We conceive the great worth of the broad view of education to be not to relieve a student of hard work, but to give him an appreciation of the fact that hard work is one of his greatest privileges.

— Last Saturday and Sunday seemed to be the allotted time for students to make their mid-term visit at home, judging from the number who were gone.

— Did the Professor of our Biblical department really mean to encourage whist, or was he familiar with the selection chosen for his chapel reading?

— Albert De Greene was a visitor during the mock contest, and renewed old memories by his rendition of a very popular solo. He was as funny as ever.

— J. E. Jay, '95, made an unexpected appearance in Ionian last Friday evening, and enjoyed Saturday and Sunday with old friends and acquaintances.

— Bulletin notices have often been amusing, but the pathetic was reached the other day when the girls read: "Lost, two overshoes, with May Bradbury in them."

— A. L. DeGreene, who is teaching at Lewisville, attended the mock contest Saturday night, and spent Sunday with his uncle and aunt, Supt. and Matron Harkness.

— Will Smith, Fred Jones, Curtis Roberts and Hartley Church have recently been enjoying the care bestowed upon those who are compelled to retreat to the nursery.

— Mr. Joe Ratliff, '91, has called at the college several times recently. He has a position in the watch making and repairing department of Jenkins' jewelry store in the city.

— The day students selected some neat paper, made a bucket of paste, and the dark room that used to be used by the boys in the basement has quite a respectable appearance as the result.

— J. E. Jay, '95, principal of the Carthage High School, and Ida Mendenhall, '95, an assistant teacher in Central Academy, Plainfield, Ind., spent Saturday and Sunday with friends at the college.

— In his examination for a West Point appointment, C. B. Elliott made an average of 98½ per cent. in ten branches. This was the highest grade made in the examination, but unfortunately Mr. Elliott lacked one and a half inches of the required height, and was therefore refused the appointment. He will either re-enter Earlham in the spring, or attend Normal school in Kansas.

— The Seniors made their first attempt at establishing a more social intercourse among themselves by holding a reception at the home of one of their members, Elizabeth Schneider, one evening last week.

— Wilfred Jessup is accused of wearing a string on his finger to aid his memory during history recitation. If the accusation be true, the conclusion is that there must be something wrong with the string.

— The engagement of Nellie Wright to Mr. Charles A. Houts, of St. Louis, was announced last week to a company at Miss Wright's home, in Indianapolis. The wedding will take place during Easter week.

— Prof. Bundy is making a fine collection of Earlham scenes to select from. He has 150 different views now, and is preparing to take a great many more when spring comes and old Earlham is looking her best.

— Two young men whom Morpheus held throughout all the sweet sounds of breaking day appeared at the mid-day meal only to find each vacant chair placarded, "Gone but not forgotten," and "To let."

— Robert Hester orated on "Dixie" in the mock contest. During the peroration he became very enthusiastic, and, drawing off his coat, exclaimed, "I'm full of my subject." Old students can appreciate.

— Phoenix was surprised and delighted at last meeting when the marshal ushered in one of the most loyal members of last year, Ida Mendenhall, '95. She spent two days among old friends and Earlham scenes.

— The Freshmen gave quite a little reception in honor of Gertrude Simmons on Monday evening of last week. The students' parlor was decorated, and dainty refreshments were served there during the evening.

— The "G Clef" girls received a startling description in one of the city papers as "Ann G. Cleff, a Mexican student of Earlham," who, it went on to say, was to sing in her native tongue at the missionary meeting on a Sabbath afternoon at Eighth Street Friends' church. The girls say the disappointment on the faces of the numerous small boys on the front benches was decidedly noticeable.

FRESHMAN RECEPTION.

Monday evening, February 3, was a memorable occasion for the class of '99. It was the date of a reception in honor of Miss Gertrude Simmons, who had won for them unprecedented honors. The parlor was beautifully decorated with palms, ferns, and lilies, and from 8 to 10 was a scene of gayety and enjoyment. Music and games caused the time to pass swiftly until refreshments were served. Class colors were conspicuous even in this feature. The evening was one long to be remembered by those present.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

At the last business meeting of the Y. M. C. A. a written report from each committee concerning last term's work was read. The reports were encouraging in every respect. At this meeting a committee on officers for the year beginning in April was appointed.

A room in the basement of Earlham Hall has been fitted up for Bible class meetings, secret prayer and general Christian work. The room, though simply is yet neatly furnished, and offers opportunity for privacy in conversation, meditation and prayer not always easy to be obtained in the study room. It is hoped that it will be largely used, and that it will meet a long felt need. It has been christened "Olivet," from Mount Olivet, where Christ so frequently went for secret communion with God.

A missionary meeting on "India" was held February 2d. The meeting was well attended and an interesting and instructive program was given. The meeting was given under the auspices of the two associations.

Revival services are in progress this week. The meetings are led by Mr. Verling W. Helm, State Y. M. C. A. Deputation-Man. Three services each day have been held, an early morning, a mid-day and an evening meeting. They have all been seasons of very great blessing.

Marriage.

Prof. Frank Moore, Thorntown, Ind., was married to Margaret Cox, Carmel, Ind., at the bride's home, February 5th, 1896.

Alumni Notes.

John E. Parker, '87, is engaged in the wholesale poultry business at Eaton, Ohio.

Jacob P. Dunn, '74, has been elected secretary of the Indianapolis Commercial Club.

Mary and Martha Doane, '92, are associate principals of the Friends' Academy at Glen Elder, Kansas.

Caroline Miles Hill, '87, is conducting experiments in the psychological laboratory at Chicago University.

Alice Mendenhall, '90, is a student this year at Bryn Mawr, and is taking Biblical work and a course in Arabic.

Richard Haworth, '91, has been re-employed for next year as principal of the Tonganoxie Academy, Kansas.

Daniel Freeman, '94, is principal of the Elwood High School, and expects to take his master degree at Earlham this year.

C. M. Burkholder, '94, is spending most of his time in a study of literature in the Newberry Library Building at Chicago.

Lawrence Mendenhall and Eugene Lewis are not alumni members, but are old Earlhamites with a host of friends. They are both living in Cincinnati, Mr. Lewis being the County Auditor. Mr. Mendenhall is on the program of the "Western Association of Writers," and will read a paper on "The Early Literature of the Miami Valley."

Mud is divine, for God made it.

Love of learning exalts the affections.

The gospel of dirt is a part of the truth of God.

A college course faithfully pursued stands against avarice.

The life that we live in our souls is the life by which we are ultimately to be tried.

The trees and worms, and whatever else there is in nature, are the garments of God.

The Bible does not exalt any truth which might be considered higher at the expense of anything which may be considered as lower.

I believe it would be a sin for me, and a bit of ignorance for anyone else, to think that the struggle for existence in this world is a wild scramble in the night.

— The system of fines for tardiness at the table seems to be pretty satisfactory in the outcome, judging from the number of feasts that were held on the proceeds of such systems. The sum, in one case, was large enough to justify Chauncey Crawford and Fred Van Nuys making a trip over to town with a large clothes-basket in which to bring back the groceries.

— Fred Allen, the new assistant gymnasium director, spent several days in college during the last week of the term. He expressed himself as well pleased with the equipment of the gymnasium, and the prospects for good work in athletics in general. There is no reason why Earlham may not surpass all former achievements under the opportunities now offered her students.

— At eight o'clock Saturday evening, March 21, the beautiful parlors of Supt. and Mrs. Harkness gave evidence that the members of their table in the dining-room for the past term, would be welcome guests to enjoy the further pleasures of their hospitality. The music and impersonations of the evening, together with the very delightful refreshments served in the most appropriate manner, offered a lasting pleasure to the company, which adjourned at the seemingly early hour of ten.

— The last Saturday night of last term witnessed the culmination of a set system of "fining" practiced by those so fortunate as to sit near Professor Coggeshall in the dining-room. Puns, tardiness &c., were finable offenses, the penalty being placed at one cent for each misdemeanor. Puns were a lucrative source of revenue, but tardiness was a close second. Although the levy may seem small the offenses were multiple, and the bank of the stock company grew incredibly. How much it grew could only be estimated by the elegant display of the delicacies in and out of season which were partaken of in Professor Coggeshall's rooms on the aforesaid evening. In keeping with the source of the banquet, puns in unrivaled quantities and un-pun-ishable degrees of audacity were tolerated. The previous system seemed to have proved an excellent trainer. Everything was "fine" of course, and each one departed expressing himself that the banquet and evening had been all right, or partly Wright at least.

— Nathan: Don Quixote is not pronounced "dun cue socks," nor "done qui-oats," but simply like it is spelled. Don was an Irish count, but he did not write Othello. Othello is the joint production of Messrs. Macbeth and Bacon. The former was afterwards executed for "murdering sleep," and the latter was punished for obtaining Shakespeare under false pretenses.

— Herbert Charles, '92, who is teaching at Economy, brought his physics class down to perform some experiments in the chemical laboratory two weeks ago. They spent the day with us, viewing the museum, studio, and various halls. Supt. Harkness and wife being absent, they occupied the place of honor in the central part of the dining room, making quite a bright and interesting looking tableful.

— Miss Gertrude Simmons spent the last week of the term at Knightstown, resting from the excitement and anxiety incident to the contest. Miss Simmons worked faithfully and well for her college, and she certainly deserved the little respite from college duties. As echoes from the contest, she has received a book of poems, bearing the compliments of an Indiana author, and other acknowledgments from the East.

Y. M. & Y. W. C. A. MISSIONARY CLASS.

In the Missionary department, the class for the study of missions has, throughout the year, shown very much interest in the work, but has lacked in numbers. The regular course outlined by the general secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement has formed the basis of the study which has been carried on. Near the close of last term, the association received a visit from Mr. J. M. Brodnax, one of the International Traveling Secretaries of the Student Volunteer Movement, which we believe will enable the department to proceed with its work this coming term with very appreciably increased consecration and interest. He held two public meetings, two meetings for the volunteers and those especially interested in the movement, and he met the missionary committees in joint session. It is sincerely to be hoped that the number of volunteers shall be increased to an extent sufficient to allow a Volunteer Band to become an important factor in the work of the Associations.

V. II May 15, 1896

— Mrs. Strickland, of the city, accompanied by Mr. and Miss Howard, son and niece of Gen'l O. O. Howard, who so delightfully entertained the college by his presence last term, visited the college and attended chapel services on the 11th.

— The Earlham quartette, consisting of Messrs. Gilbert, Jones, Hadley and Finley, and F. R. Van Nuys, gave an entertainment at West Manchester, Ohio, on the evening of May 2d. They were entertained at the home of Miss Siler at tea.

— Mary Morris, Elmer Stout and Homer Anderson will spend Sunday with Elizabeth Wilson at her home in New Castle. Round trip tickets are considered good form this season, but still it depends a great deal upon the taste of the purchaser.

— Mrs. Beck, the State President of the W. C. T. U., favored Earlham with a visit last week. She is trying to organize "Somerset Y's" in all the colleges of Indiana. Our temperance people have agreed to organize one at the beginning of next fall term.

— A few feet more of corn-field is gained, but we wonder whether it is enough to recompense for the loss of the old apple trees, which made the western slope of the campus an artistic little scene, instead of dismal looking patch of corn-ground as it is since they have been cut down.

— Students seem to think that it is an appropriate time to take a short vacation, in this fine weather, between the time when the last bell rings for meals and the time when they do at last enter the dining-room. Promptness, thou art a jewel, but thy brilliancy is dimmed when the springtime comes.

— A number of East Siders were the recipients of beautiful May baskets on the 1st. The baskets were very dainty and tied with long satin ribbons. The first baskets were filled with heliotrope and white lilacs, others with great bunches of pansies, lilies of the valley, and roses and ferns. Altogether it is safe to say they were the most beautiful baskets which ever found their way to the East Side.

— Our editor-in-chief is a thoroughly professional man. Those thinking that the EARLHAMITE is the sole product of his massive intellect will be pleasantly surprised should a copy of the Anpao fall into their hands. Such is the name of the publication which the happy association of such original personages as Chalmers Hadley, Okie Andrews and Gertrude Simmons at table has occasioned. Mr. Hadley is the figurehead, Miss Andrews the cartoon designer, and Miss Simmons the chief contributor. It is reported that under safe nom de plumes Nellie Wood serves as the poetess and Curtis Roberts poses as the head of the Home and Garden column.

— Four Seniors — be it needless to explain two East and two West Earlhamites — attended a scientific lecture over in town recently. The fact that two of them are taking the German and French course, and the others were from the mathematical and music courses, only proves the breadth of their development. It happened this way: The two young men in question saw the show bill announcing the lecture in the afternoon, and were immediately seized with an unselfish desire to give two certain young ladies its benefit. Everything was propitious until it occurred to the gentlemen as they neared the city that in their excitement they had failed to note the place of the lecture. After vain efforts to find the celebrity at Phillips' and at Price's, a journey was made to the announcement bill. They then wended their way to the top story of the Masonic Temple, where a consumptive-dyspeptic looking man was holding a crowd of something like two dozen people. After first taking a back seat, and then being invited to the front row, they were espied by a wily Day-dodger! The poor, misguided young people are not aware that the "joke" is out yet!

Examinations are at an end. All that is necessary at the end of a term is to take a shadowgraph of the brain and compare it with one taken at the beginning. The comparison will show the growth. What makes some fellows tremble?—Ex.

Jones, '96, was an all-round man; was fitted for almost any condition. On the base ball team he played second base; on the glee club he held like position.—University Forum.

In one of our college papers the first item in the column headed, "College World" is "Spring Footery at Graff's."

V, II June 1, 1896

MAY-DAY CELEBRATION.

For many years, in most places, the beautiful old custom of celebrating May-day has been obsolete. Six years had passed since Earlham girls had selected their May-Queen and paid her their homage; but this year the beauty of the spring days, and especially the beauty of Earlham's surroundings, aroused in every girl's heart the desire to pay a tribute to the beautiful month of May. Accordingly, on Friday afternoon, the fifteenth, all lessons were put away, and East Earlhamites, chaperoned by professors and surrounded by friends of the college from the city, assembled to listen to the exercises of the day.

The first indication of the approach of the merry-makers was given, when the horn of "Little Boy Blue" was heard, and soon the song of the Queen and her merry train was heard, as they came over the hill.

The girls had unanimously chosen Miss Jessie Brown as their queen, and all can testify to the wisdom of the choice. She, with her little flower girls and maids of honor, then mounted the throne, which was made of green boughs and decorated in white, and Miss May Morris then crowned her "Queen of the May."

The Gypsy Queen, Miss Marian White, and her attendants then came to give obeisance to the Queen of the May, and in their gaudy costumes they presented a beautiful and striking contrast to the girls in light. The little bugler then announced the first exercise, which was a reading by Miss Emma Clark,—Tennyson's "May Queen"—and which was given in pantomime by Misses Leone Hall and Grace Maddock. After this, twelve of the girls dressed in true Colonial style, with powdered hair and Empire gowns, gave the stately old Minuet, which was succeeded by a duet given by Misses Mary Morris and Leona Wright.

Then came the tambourine drill, given by a number of girls dressed in Gypsy costumes, and it was much enjoyed by all. Last, but not least upon the program was the winding of the May-pole, without which no May-day is complete. It was given by sixteen girls dressed in delicate colors, and was a very fitting close to the festivities of the day. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in visiting the Gypsy tent, and learning from the witches what fortune awaited you.

Professor Bundy was happy in getting some very fine pictures of the different groups of girls.

May seemed to appreciate the honor which was being bestowed upon her, for she smiled her sweetest smiles, and sent her softest breezes.

Societies and Clubs.

IONIAN SOCIETY.

Ionian held its last meeting on Friday evening, May 22d. The literary value of this term's work has been great and the interest good. The society voted $30 to the purchase of new books for its library, and the department of literature selected the books this year. The usual election took place for the staff of the EARLHAMITE for the coming year.

PHOENIX SOCIETY.

The meeting of the Society last Friday night was the closing one for the year.

On account of the limited number of Sophomore girls who are certain of returning next year, the election of associate editor and assistant financial manager of the EARLHAMITE was postponed until next fall term. The literary program last Friday night was very good. Especially deserving of mention was the "school," conducted by Miss Luella Hamar, a recitation given by Miss Mell Newlin, in a very pleasing style, the piano music excellently rendered by Miss Gertrude Simmons, and "The Farewell to Phoenix," by Miss Nellie Wood.

SCIENCE CLUB.

The lecture of Professor Moore, on "Gray and Agassiz," was certainly very good. At the next meeting of the Club, Professor Dennis will lecture on "Darwin."

The Club this year has been very interesting and instructive. Its work would enable one to gainsay the opinion afloat, that it doesn't pay to belong to clubs.

Marriage.

Mr. J. Edward Coggeshall and Miss Margaret Stacy were married Thursday evening, May 27th, at Damascus, Ohio. They will go to Iowa to live.

—The Richmond Tennis Association began its first tournament on the Earlham courts on the afternoon of the 11th.

—Mr. McClave, '95, Oberlin College, is spending a few days with his cousins, Misses Olive and Lilian Kaminsky.

—The Y. W. C. A. will be represented by a delegation of eight or nine at the Y. W. C. A. Conference, at Lake Geneva.

—Mr. A. L. Baldwin, '96, begins his teaching career next week as instructor in geography in the Earlham Summer School.

—The Seniors of '96 revived the old-time custom and bade their college home good-bye with a song in the dining room.

—May Pemberton, a former student, will continue as principal of Washington Academy, Washington, Kansas, next year.

—Miss Stanley, a teacher in the Noblesville schools, attended commencement. She thinks of entering the college next year.

—John J. Copeland, principal of the Plainfield Public Schools, spent a few days with his brother, Albert, week before last.

—Old students had a happy time this year, a table to themselves in the dining room, and other things favorable to a jolly reunion.

—One might be persuaded that the Juniors were a set of missionaries by the way they have worked for new members for next year.

—Mayme Harrison entertained the girls of '93 and '94 for supper Monday evening, and a party of students on Wednesday evening.

—Miss Gertrude Simmons left a few days before the end of the term for Wabash, where she will begin immediately to teach a class in music.

—Misses Maud and Minnie Stout were both among the Commencement visitors. Both are debating the question of attending Earlham next year.

—The Senior class books afford quite a new and convenient way of keeping all the pictures of the class. The half tones in the books are very good.

—Commencement drives were numerous and prolonged enough to compensate for the moonlight strolls which the pitiless showers vetoed even more successfully than the labors of the fire department.

—The campers are all disgusted with the recent rains. One crowd gave up the project. The others intend waiting a day or two and then try it.

—W. M. Trueblood and Dr. Scott, of Howard County, called on friends at the college on their way home from the National Prohibition Convention.

—Bessie Pray isn't an Alumnus, but she holds her place in every Earlhamite's memory just the same. Every one was glad to see her beaming face once more.

—A. D. Hole gave a very interesting report of the Inter-Collegiate Prohibition Contest and the National Prohibition Convention, on the evening of May 29th.

—Alice Ewing passed through Richmond on June 11th, on her way to Omaha, Nebraska. She was just in time to see several of the Earlhamites on their way home.

—Profs. Moore and Dennis are on program for addresses at the Annual Meeting of the State Horticultural Society, which meets in Richmond next Friday and Saturday.

—M. A. Hollabaugh, of Indianapolis, office-secretary of the State Y. M. C. A., was here May 31st in the interest of the college delegation to the Y. M. C. A. Summer School at Lake Geneva, Wis., this summer.

—J. Marcus Hadley and Clara Brown will be among the old Earlham students during the summer term. They are looking forward with pleasure to initiating the new students into the mysteries of hash, dixie, etc.

—Mr. Hartley Church and Mr. Fred Roberts have further developed the photographic method of surveying, and have shown it to be entirely practical. It will hereafter form a regular part of the course in surveying.

—The following will accompany Prof. Sackett to commencement at the University of Michigan, June 25: J. Marcus Hadley, Fred C. Roberts and W. O. Beal. Mr. Roberts will attend the university next year.

—The Sophomores were entertained at the home of Robert Study, in the city, on Tuesday. They came back showing symptoms of having had a splendid time by the way they made the campus ring with yells for '96, '98 and old E. C.

Athle
Alum
Art N
A Jou
A Ples
A Few
A Prot
After (C
At the Annua
Annua
A Card
Anothe
Arise!
Academ
Aurora
Americ
A Year
Business
Coate's C
Christ in Cupid's
College E
Cheers fo
Clubs ...
Chicago E

V. III Oct. 1, 1896

Personals and Locals.

Ionian.
EARL WIDUP, '98.
ALBERT COWGILL, '99.

Phoenix.
CLARA BROWN, '97
ETHEL SYMONS, '99.

- 17 preps.
- Fifty-one Sophomores!
- More boys than girls!!
- Did you get a souvenir?
- Yearly Meeting next week.
- Foot-ball game next Saturday. Come!
- 17 States represented, and Canada beside.
- Chas. Stubbs makes a fine foot-ball manager.
- 207 were enrolled during Summer School.
- Robert L. Study goes to Ann Arbor this year.
- Elvin Hadley is in the school room this year.
- Albert Copeland is teaching in Hendricks county.
- Stand in the stairway and receive "a cooler."
- Miss Moon spent Sunday, the 13th, with Mary Mills.
- Mary Hussey has given the college several calls this week.
- Charley Reeve is in charge of a successful school this year.
- Gray and Moorman visited at home over the first Sunday.
- Walter Jessup, class '99, is teaching school near Millville, Ind.
- The G-Clef and Male Quartette favor us now with solos only.
- Gertrude Simmons delivered several lectures during vacation.
- "Rick — Ro — Rick — e — Rack" swells with its old time vigor.
- Clara Brown has charge of the library, as assistant to Miss Harris.
- Clement Fihe and Mary Scott have both left the '98's to join the Seniors.
- Prof. Brown, an X-rays experimenter, visited the college last week.
- A Chorus Class and Notation Class were organized last Tuesday night.
- Won't it be fun to see the boys sitting opposite each other at the table.
- Estelle Newsome, '93, is taking post graduate work in the college this year.

— Louise Wilson, one of the '99s, is teaching second grade in New Castle, Ind.

— The '99s are keeping up the Sophomore record in number of class meetings.

— Martha Shoemaker spent almost her entire vacation visiting relatives in Virginia.

— Alhambra Overmann is at home, in Marion. He will probably be in school after Xmas.

— Jessie Newlin visited Earlham College last week. She intends going to Chicago soon.

— Calista Furnas, formerly a member of class '90, is teaching short-hand in Louisville, Ky.

— Edith Furnas and Murray Barker have received a hearty welcome into the class of '97.

— Did Homer Anderson attend Western Yearly Meeting, or did he get as far as Plainfield?

— Earnest Jones is teaching this year, but that did not prevent him from being at the first social.

— We miss a quartette in college this year, and there should, by all means, be one organized.

— That this record may be complete, we simply mention the fact that we still have "dixie."

— The Richmond Lecture Course, as usual, will be well attended by Earlham students this year.

— Talk to your opposite and don't laugh during silence, by order of the Committee on Ways and Means.

— Allen Hole surprised his college friends by coming into school, at last, and taking his duties as Senior.

— Edith Furnas evidently has her "name in the pot." Pumpkin pie greeted us the first Wednesday noon.

— Bertha Hill, an old '96er, visited the college last Saturday. She will attend Chicago University this year.

— Ethel Stanley gave Earlham a short call on her way to Mrs. Sewall's Classical School, at Indianapolis.

— Hettie Hunt, '96, visited the College during the last week, and presided over Phoenix at its first meeting.

— Among the improvements for the welfare of Earlham students, are new winter cars for the street railway.

— Elizabeth Wilson, a former member of the G-Clef, visited the college Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

v. III Mar. 16, 1897

SOPHOMORE PUBLIC.

The annual public rhetorical exercises of the Sophomore class was held in Lindley Hall on the evening of March 6, 1897. It consisted of a varied literary and musical program, which in every respect did honor to the class of '99 and their representatives who had devoted themselves to its success. The stage was decorated with palms and colors of both class and college, and was made very attractive by the addition of numerous bits of stage furnishings. Unlike previous exhibitions of like character, the assemblage of the entire class upon the stage was happily omitted. With the exception of the members on program, the class occupied the front portion of the auditorium.

The first number, a piano solo by Miss Florence Henley, was executed in her usual admirable style, and evoked a generous applause from the audience. Miss Henley's number was composed of "Barcarolle-June," by Tschaikawski, and "Impromptu" by Berger.

The next, an oration by Will Krueger on the subject, "The Goal of True Nationality," was well written and delivered. It advocated a higher standard of national ethics, such as would be evidenced by the abolition of standing armies and the adoption of a national council of arbitration. The present European troubles were the natural results of selfish government. The oration closed with a eulogy on America.

A flute solo by W. S. Middleton was next rendered in such a pleasing manner that a hearty encore followed. Both were executed in matchless style.

The next number, an original poem by Laura B. Laughman, was a very unique and pleasing bit of monologue, in which Miss Laughman appeared in full Quaker costume of forty years ago, and impersonated in a most natural manner the speaker of her sketch. The poem related to the experiences of a West Earlhamite in the early history of the college, and compared the same with existing conditions.

A vocal duet, "Drift, My Bark," by Misses Gertrude Simmons and Irene Dickinson, was most creditably rendered.

The next number was from Riley, entitled "That Little Dog." Charles Marley interpreted the lines in a thoroughly appreciative manner, and much to the amusement of the audience.

A violin solo by Walter Cain, "Andante from Mendelssohn's Concerto," was played in Mr. Cain's usual finished style, and brought forth a pretty encore.

The second oration, by C. E. Cook, entitled "The Waldenses," needs no comment, as it is printed in this issue of THE EARLHAMITE.

The last number, a scene taken from "The Last Days of Pompeii," was presented by Wm. Freshour and Misses Worley and Binford. The number was given in excellent style. Mr. Freshour, as "Glaucus," was strong in his part, both in the ease with which he interpreted the meaning of his selection and in tone of voice. Misses Worley and Binford as "Nydia" and "Ione," held the strict attention of the audience by their meritorious renditions. The scene, as a whole, was a long and difficult one, but was very successfully presented.

The program was closed by the usual class song, which was very pretty.

AT COVINGTON.

The recent trip of the Earlham orchestra to Covington, Ohio, was one of the most pleasant and successful ventures yet made by an Earlham musical organization. The entertainment was given under the auspices of the Christian church of that place, and resulted in a neat little addition to their treasury. While there the students were entertained by the members of the church, but more especially at the homes of the Messrs. Freshour and Miss Lloria Worley. After a day's feasting on Saturday at the home of the latter, a reception was given in the evening at Judge Freshour's, father of James and Will, of our student body. Miss Agnes Worley acts as accompanist for the orchestra. It takes an Earlham crowd to appreciate a good time, and it takes Covington hospitality to extend such opportunities.

—Prof. Wm. N. Trueblood considered love one of the topics worthy of study in his Sophomore literature class. It is said that the abstracts that day showed deep penetration, much thought and a complete mastery of the subject in hand.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK.

MUSICALE.

The annual recital of the department of music, which always attracts such a large and representative audience from the city, was given on the evening of June 4th. It was the sixteenth recital since the organization of this department, and as usual was a complete success. The numbers were executed in an easy, appreciative manner, which called forth several encores from the large audience. The program, as a whole, was varied and interesting. Mrs. Finley, under whose direction the musical standard of Earlham has been raised to such a high degree of excellence, has always succeeded in making this opening event of commencement week one of the most enjoyable of the entire number. It was therefore with much regret that all realized that this recital of the 4th was to be her last in Earlham. Under her care, the college has made great progress in musical lines within the last few years. This department has become one of the attractive offerings of the course; its elevating influences have permeated every phase of our college life, and the assistance of Mrs. Finley and her pupils has in no small degree added to the success and favor of Earlham programs of all kinds.

Individual mention of the different performers is impossible, as the entire program deserves special comment. Below we print the program as rendered:

PROGRAM.

Bachmann.	"Valse Impromptu."	Piano Duo
	MAMIE C. SNIPES. AMANDA MOORE.
Rubenstein.	(a) "Spring Fancies."	Voice
	(b) "Yearnings."
	CHARLOTTE C. GRIMES.
Moszkowski.	"Caprice Espagnole."	Piano
	LINA R. HARKNESS.
Piatti.	"Awake, Awake."—Serenade.	Voice
	BERTHA JOHNSON.
	Violoncello Obligato by
	THEODORE G. FINLEY.
Chopin.	(a) Valse, Op. 70, No. 4.	Piano
	(b) Valse Brillante, Op. 34, No. 1.
	LLORA A. WORLEY.
Goria.	"Belisario."	Piano Duo
	OLIVE S. PYLE. ARA I. CAMPFIELD.

Barnard.	"The Plains of Peace."	Voice
	EDITH E. HUBBARD.
Wagner-Liszt.	"Spinning Song," from "The Flying Dutchman."	Piano
	IONA S. MARSHALL.
Arditi.	"The Dove."	Voice
	GERTRUDE E. SIMMONS.
	Flute Oligato by
	W. G. MIDDLETON.
Hummel	Concerto, Op. 85, 1st Movement.
	ALICE B. FINLEY.
	Orchestral part on second piano by
	LINA R. HARKNESS.

ELOCUTIONARY PUBLIC.

The annual elocutionary entertainment, given under the direction of Prof. E. P. Trueblood, resulted, as usual, in a complete success. One of the largest audiences that ever assembled in Lindley hall filled the auditorium to overflowing. The stage was tastefully decorated with palms. After a piano duo by Misses Harkness and Worley, which was rendered in matchless style, Gertrude Simmons gave a beautiful selection from Delano, entitled, "An Easter with Parepa." Miss Simmons' natural ease and pathos were given ample opportunity to display themselves in this charming selection. Clement Fihe next gave "The Dutchman's Serenade." Mr. Fihe's impersonation was perfect. His unique portrayal of the troubles of a would-be lover met the heartiest approval of the audience, who demanded recognition by an encore. "The Theatre Hat," by Laura B. Laughman, was of mirth-provoking to the extreme and won ready applause from the large audience. Selections from the "Forum Scene" of Julius Cæsar were given by Frederick VanNuys in most appreciative style, followed by Ruth Russel in Riley's original sketch, entitled "Bud's Fairy Tale." Miss Russel's charm lies in her simplicity and accurate impersonation of childish movements. The selection was one of the best of the evening. A vocal solo by Edith Hubbard was, as they always are, very pretty. The selection was from DeKoven—"Oh! Promise Me"—and brought out all the beauty of the singer's voice. "The Difficulty of tion. One paper, entitled "Devotion to Duty the Measure of True Greatness," illustrates the idea that true greatness is not always found only in the man who is known as the greatest among men.

IV Oct. 1, 1897

THE NINETY-SEVENS.

Reports From a Number of Them—Let Us Hear from All.

Arthur Chace enters Harvard.

Miss Harris is taking work in Ann Arbor.

Chas. Stubbs is teaching in northern Indiana.

Ida Brown—teaching at Muncton Ridge, Vermont.

Clement Fihe is in Ohio Medical College, at Cincinnati.

Christine Rogers is teaching near Boston, Wayne County.

Fidelia Parker has charge of a ward school in Anoka, Minnesota.

Chauncey Crawford is attending school at University of Pennsylvania.

Theodore Finley is studying medicine in the University of Pennsylvania.

Warren Barrett has assumed the duties of Principal at West Newton for the ensuing year.

Murray Barker has taken the Chair of Science in the high school at Cheyenne, Wyoming.

Clara Brown has charge of the Department of Literature in the Noblesville High School.

Martha Shoemaker, after spending several weeks in a camping party in Virginia, has entered Bryn Mawr.

Mary Scott called on her college friends the first of the term. She has a position this year as assistant in the Friends' Academy at Vermilion Grove, Ill., where George Moore, '89, still remains as Principal.

Amanda Moore, Edith Mendenhall, Bertha Johnson, Edith Furnas, Anna Roop, Myrton Johnson, Homer Anderson, Allen Hole and Lewis Chambers are spending the year at their respective homes. Plenty of opportunity to write for the EARLHAMITE.

Personals and Locals.

Ionian.

HARLOW LINDLEY, '98.

ORIEL J. BINFORD, '00.

Phœnix.

LEOTA DAVIS, '98.

SARA ROGERS, '00.

— "Opposites!"

— Yearly Meeting.

— "It's his'n"!!!

— 2 x 4 and he ate!

— 'Rah for '97 and '8!

— Yes! we're all here! Yes!"

— Full backs or pleated backs?

— Two rival teams on the campus!

— Get your tickets for the "bawl".

— Three cheers for our football team!

— Ed Wood, '00, is teaching at Amo, Ind.

— Golda Flemming is boarding out this year.

— Is "ich liebe Sie gern" colloquial German?

— Where, oh where, has little dog Arithmetic gone?

— Mr. Davis and wife called on their son Howard the 21st.

— Prof. Mary Trueblood received a visit from her father this week.

— Rev. M. M. Binford conducted services here last Sunday morning.

— Oscar Smith's parents spent the afternoon of Sept. 28th with him.

— On account of lack of space the several marriages will be reported next issue.

— Edgar Stranahan occupied the pulpit at the Eighth Street Church on the 19th inst.

— All the students of last year will be glad to learn that Sara Rogers is in school again this year.

— Mrs. Anna C. F. O'Neal, of Waynesville, O., is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Chapman.

— Gertrude Simmons, '99, is teaching this year at the Carlisle Indian school, at Carlisle, Pennsylvania.

— Mr. W. P. Henley, of the Endowment Board, called on his daughters, Florence and Lillian, Sept. 28th.

— "This is the hardest soap I ever struck," said a Freshie, as he vigorously scrubbed his face with the Sapolio which is left in each room.

V, VI Jan 27, 1900

Jay, of this city, met this week to perform their usual duties.

—Wednesday, January 17, the girls of the dormitory played a good basket ball game, with a score of 6 to 6.

—A certain lady said she "wished to see Mr. Shingle." It turned out that the gentleman wanted was Mr. Schilling.

—Curtis Roberts, a teacher in the high school at Fairhaven, O., visited friends at the college Sunday, January 21.

—Dana Johnson, of Wittenberg Seminary, visited chapel Monday, January 22, with his friend, Harold Kapp.

—Miss Rae Chandlee, of the city, spent last Saturday night in the college as the guest of her friend, Miss Jessie Baker.

—Professor Russell was sick January 15 and 16, and owing to this fact his Bible classes did not recite on those evenings.

—Tuesday evening, January 23, a number of the Earlham girls attended a tea at the United Presbyterian Church in the city.

—Charles Baldwin and wife, of Westfield, Ind., visited Mr. Baldwin's brother, who is in school, on Monday, January 22.

—Prof. Dennis went to Elwood, Friday, Jan. 19, where he delivered a lecture as one number of the Elwood and Alexandria Lecture Course.

—C. A. Reeve went to Indianapolis last Saturday to attend a meeting of the Executive Committee of the State Oratorical Association.

—Professor Lindley, Murray Kenworthy and Professor Hodgkin acted as judges on the Junior oratorical contest of the Richmond High School.

—Mr. F. A. Preston, of the Allyn-Bacon Book Company, was in Richmond on business last week, and called on friends at the college Friday evening, January 19.

—The "Kooky-Schein," given in the students' parlor last Saturday night, was well attended by the students, both from the dormitory and from the city. The prize for securing the largest number of autographs was awarded to Miss Mary Stout. Another part of the program was a Song

Romance, which furnished much entertainment for all.

—Dr. Brown, Miss Wright and George Levering acted as judges of the Senior Oratorical Contest of the Richmond High School Wednesday evening, January 17.

—Miss Clara O'Neal, who was forced to give up her school work soon after the beginning of the term on account of ill health, was able to resume her studies this week.

—Miss Mabel Hollowell was compelled to return to her home on account of sickness. She went last Saturday, and hopes to return to her studies in a few weeks.

—Mr. R. W. Kelsey rehearsed his oration for our benefit on the morning of January 16, during the period usually devoted to the chapel exercises. He showed a marked improvement over his delivery at any former time.

—On Saturday evening, January 13, Professor Davis, of Richmond, gave an interesting and instructive lecture in the college auditorium. The lecture, "Historic London," was illustrated by about thirty stereopticon views.

Prof. R. W. Barrett delivered his lecture, entitled "Revolutionary Scenes In and Around Boston," before the Friday Night Club of Cambridge City, last night. He has about one hundred slides, which are exceptionally good.

—Misses Florence Henley and Lloria Worley spent the holidays sight-seeing in Washington, D. C. Miss Worley is teaching at Hughesville, Md., near Washington, and Miss Henley spent a few days there before her return to Bryn Mawr for the opening of the term's work.

—Miss Gertrude Simmons, who spent two years at Earlham a few years ago, and who is now a member of the Carlisle Indian School, is doing literary work which is very remarkable. The Atlantic Monthly contains a series of articles on Impressions of Indian Childhood, from her pen.

—An exceptionally good opportunity is offered this year to students wishing to attend the State Oratorical Contest. If a company of fifty is promised, a special car can be had, and the fare will be but $2.05 for the round trip. In addition to this we have more seats than usual in the church this time she has been confined to a wheel-chair. We hope for her speedy recovery.

— Prof. Wm. N. Trueblood did not meet his classes during the first part of this week, on account of the death of Mrs. Trueblood's mother.

— Earlham's Republican Club was much in evidence at the "Republican love feast," held in Richmond on Wednesday evening, and won a very high compliment from Chairman Hernley.

— Miss Gertrude Simmons, who will be remembered by old Earlhamites, is soon to play the violin and recite "Hiawatha," at a literary club in Washington, at which President McKinley will preside.

— Prof. Barrett recently received a crayon copy of a photograph of his father and a flock of sheep. The picture is the work of a country artist, but has merit on account of its naturalness and the artistic grouping of the sheep.

— Miss Ida Holloway, of Spiceland, who is at her home this term, has been severely injured in a runaway, near her home. Last reports say that she is improving. All her numerous friends will regret to hear of Miss Holloway's accident.

— Young economist No. 1. — "Now, Professor, suppose that you had a flock of hogs?"

Young economist No. 2. — "Now, Professor, take, for example, a half-dozen bottles of Hood's sarsaparilla."

Prof. Hodgkin. — "No, but I don't take it."

— On the evening of February 22, President and Mrs. J. J. Mills very delightfully entertained the Senior Class. Every one received a hearty welcome, and never have the members of the class had a better opportunity of becoming acquainted with each other. They heartily appreciate the hospitality of their host and hostess.

— Married, on January 17, 1900, at the Friends' Mission, Nanking, China, Dr. George De Vol, of New York City, to Dr. M. Isabella French, daughter of Ezra and Mary J. French, of Damascus, Ohio. The Friends ceremony was used, the American consul and other friends being present. Dr. French is a member of the Earlham class of '93, and has been in China several years, being at present in charge of the Friends hospital in Nanking. Dr. De Vol was a student at Earlham during '91 and '92, and enters the mission field this year well equipped for usefulness in the Master's vineyard.

— The February number of The Pacific College Crescent contains an article by W. C. Woodward, '99, entitled "An Indiana Poet," and containing the author's impressions of S. W. Gillilan, of Richmond. Mr. Woodward's production is the leading literary article of the issue, and the fact that it is equal to his best commends it to those who know his ability in that line.

— Amos W. Butler, secretary of the Board of State Charities, and a man of prominence among the scientists of the State, will be in Richmond next week, and it is announced that he may address the college on Monday morning at the hour usually given to chapel exercises. All friends of the college are invited to attend. Mr. Butler is sure to give an instructive address.

— On Saturday night, March 10, Dr. Zaccheus Test, of Richmond, will lecture in Lindley Hall, his subject being "Hegel and his Philosophy." The lecture is given under the auspices of the History Club, and the members feel confident that it will be well worth a large attendance, as Dr. Test is one of three men in the United States who are recognized as being thoroughly informed on the subject.

— Miss Lockwood, the Assistant State Secretary of the Y. W. C. A., whose acquaintance was made by the Earlham Y. W. C. A. delegates at the Geneva Conference last summer, was at the college March 1 and 2. Miss Lockwood was the guest of honor at a Geneva table, on last Friday morning. There were eleven in the group, all of whom have attended the Conference during the last few years.

Exchanges.

Ionian.
BYRON C. ROBBINS, '02.

Phoenix.
ETHEL L. ARTHUR, '00.

Success is the goal toward which all are struggling; yet, strange as it may seem, it is won through failure.

The exchange columns in general have been subject to much criticism in the recent numbers of