EARLHAM HALL SELECTS RUSH AS PRESIDENT

Will Succeed Margaret Spohn
As Head of the Women's Student Council

MEMBERS ELECTED

Dorothy Rush, '32 of Fairmount, Ind., was elected president of the Earlham Hall Student Council at a roll call meeting on Wednesday night, April 8. She will succeed Margaret Spohn, '31, to that post next semester.

Miss Rush will attend the national convention of the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students to be held at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, on April 22. Harriet Scott, senior council member-elect, will accompany Miss Rush as a delegate to the conference.

In her freshman year, Dorothy served as president of the Freshman Commission and vice-president of the class. She was also a member of the Quaker Quill staff and of Phoenix. She has been secretary of the sophomore class and this year is vice-president of the junior class, and is also a member of the W. A. A., and vice-president of the Y. W. C. A. She is now a member of the Student Council, the Student Senate, the College Social committee, Phoenix, and the newly elected Y. W. cabinet.

In women's athletics she has taken an active part.

The members of next year's Student Council for Earlham Hall are, among the seniors, Dorothy Rush, Harriett Scott, Nina Piper, and Gulielma Swan; the juniors will be represented with LuVine Ballard, Jane Smelser, and Dorothy Wheeler; the sophomores with Marjorie Hinshaw, and Martena Sink. The freshmen will elect their representatives soon after their arrival next fall.

CHOIR SINGS IN MUNCIE FRIENDS CHURCH SUNDAY

Morton High School to Hear Glee Clubs in Return Engagement at Chapel Exercises

The combined Glee Clubs made a successful trip to Muncie Sunday evening, where they appeared at the Friends Church. They left by bus at five o'clock Sunday afternoon, arriving in Muncie in time for the evening service. The varied program met with its usual success, judging from the enthusiasm of the audience.

On Wednesday, April 15, the choir will appear at the chapel exercises at Morton high school, returning the program the Morton orchestra gave here some time ago.

The current season of concerts will close with an engagement at Dublin, Indiana, at the Friends Church, Sunday evening, April 19.

"FIRE FIGHTERS"

4-13(EP) The finish line for one of the most successful Earlham cross country runs ever staged was a vacant house near the campus which caught on fire Monday evening. The meet was sponsored by the Richmond Fire department, the prizes being choice positions around the fire.

Four "Post" reporters were present at the first streaks of flame; our motto—"the latest news first."

IONIAN DANCE WILL BE HELD ON SATURDAY

Twelve o'clock Permission Granted
Women of College for Annual Event

The annual spring dance under the auspices of the Ionian society will be held in the ball room of the Richmond-Leland hotel next Saturday evening. As Dean Comstock has granted the girls late permission, there will be dancing from 8:30 o'clock until 11:30.

Paul Miller, '33, chairman of the Ionian dance committee, which further includes Bill Colley, '32, and George Loudon, '34, will secure the orchestra for the occasion.

As usual, the dance is an all-student function, and will not be formal.

Professor and Mrs. M. O. Ross and Professor and Mrs. O. S. Heckman will chaperon the dance.

ROOT POPULAR LECTURER ON EASTERN TOUR

Washington and Boston Arts

His Honor

SPEAKS AT SCHOOLS

Professor E. Merrill Root, of the English department, has just returned from a week's tour of the east where he has given a series of lectures and readings.

Because of the recent attention received from the literary world for his two volumes of verse, particularly the latter, "The Bow of Burning Gold," Mr. Root is in great demand for personal appearances.

A well known New York publisher has asked him to write the introduction for an anthology of Indiana poetry. Although he is not a native of this state, he has accounted an Indiana poet. His work is not alone a work of literary value but it also is important because it concerns a modern problem of social evolution.

The Arts Club of Washington, D. C., and the Twentieth Century Club of Boston, entertained in his honor, April 7 and 11, following which he gave readings from his own poems.

It is a distinct honor to be the guest of either of these clubs for they "Minick," the play which we have seen advertised by such stunning posters for many days now, rang down its final curtain Friday evening amidst ringing applause. This was not the perfunctory hand-clapping of the charitably enthusiastic audience, but real heart-felt appreciation and approval. The house was meagre, sad to say, but we will be kind enough to suppose some other conflicting entertainment.

The directors deserve much praise for the designing of the set; it was

UNITED PRESS CARRIES STORY ON PROJECT

The Mexican project which has been a center of interest on the Earlham campus for the past month has attracted widespread notice all over the country. Newspaper clippings have been received by the office from all parts of the United States.

Quoted below is an article dispatched by the United Press to all the papers with which it is affiliated:

"St. Paul—The student body of Earlham College, a Quaker institution, will send one of its members to the University of Mexico to promote goodwill between Mexican and United States college students, officials of the school announced. This will be the second time the school has sent students to other countries, the first being in 1927 when a co-ed was sent to Japan.

"The trip is being sponsored by the International Relations Forum of Earlham. Six students will be chosen from the student body by a committee of faculty members and students. An all-school election will be held to determine the winner and the money for the trip and tuition will be raised by contributions."

RARE MUSICAL TREAT

Earlham is to have a rare treat this evening when a group of the finest singers in the world will appear in Goddard auditorium. These, the Fisk Jubilee Singers, are ranked as second to none in the rendition and interpretation of the songs of their people, Negro spirituals.

They have formed a tradition at Fisk University, Nashville, Tennessee, which began when the first group of singers went to Europe in 1873. During that tour they sang for Queen Victoria, Gladstone, Shafesbury, and the King and Queen of Holland.

The present group of the third generation, consists of a sextet of two women and four men, graduates

Augustus T. Murray Will Address
Senior Class Before Graduation in June

A personal friend of President Hoover's and the minister in the Friends Meeting which Hoover attends in Washington, will deliver the baccalaureate address here on June 14.

Augustus T. Murray is a former Earlham professor, having taught Greek here from '87 until '90. He is at present on leave of absence from the Classical Language department of Leland-Stanford University.

Mr. Murray, because of his wealth of knowledge of the past and his application of it to modern life, is in demand as a speaker.

Mrs. Murray will accompany her husband to Earlham.

to be at Ohio U.

At Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio, on Friday and Saturday last, the Model Assembly of the League of Nations convened for its third annual session.

The Model Assembly of the League is an enterprise sponsored by the colleges and universities of the state of Ohio, to which Earlham has for the past two years been invited to send delegates. Each college attending the assembly must represent one of the nations of the world. Earlham, this year, represented the Dominion of Canada, her delegates being Tom Millikan, '33, chief delegate; David Dennis, '33, Sam DeCou, '32, and Leonard Kenworthy, '33.

The Assembly was welcomed to Wittenberg College in an address by Dean Shatzer, after which Professor Vernon G. Kelly, of Geneva, Switzerland, a member of the Wittenberg faculty, was elected president of the assembly.

The meeting of the assembly was opened with addresses by the chief

To the student of Earlham who has completed at least one successful year of college work, the Rotary club of Richmond will award an annual $200 scholarship under the terms that the donation be given to the "best young man or woman candidate as judged by a committee of the faculty, appointed by the president."

It is further provided that the recipient must be a resident of Wayne Township, Wayne county. The award is to be made according to (1) Qualities of manhood, character and leadership, which will count for 50 points. (2) Literary and scholastic ability of attainments, 30 points. (3) Physical vigor as shown in sports, 20 points.

The Rotary scholarship is to be awarded for the first time this spring and will be available for use here next year by the honor student.

Under the terms of the gift, President Dennis was appointed to select the faculty members to pass on the student who is to receive the scholarship. Professor Hole was named chairman of the committee which will also include Professor Cox, Dean Charles, Dean Comstock, and Miss Thornburg. Prof. Hole and Prof. Cox are members of the Richmond Rotary Club.

The club also established a scholarship at Morton high school to be awarded to a member of the graduating class on the basis of certain specific credentials. He need not, however, enter Earlham College.

Sponsored by the International Forum, one of the most successful student fund drives in many years was launched at Earlham last week. The drive was to raise funds to send an Earlham student to the University of Mexico for summer study. Backed by college organizations, classes, faculty, and individual students, the total sum of $300 was reached early last Wednesday night.

The International Forum is a voluntary student organization on the campus composed of students who are interested in international relations.

Four years ago, under the leadership of Dr. Kelly and the Forum, a student was sent from Earlham to the University of Tokyo for one year's study. The purpose of the Mexican project is to establish another tie between the United States and Mexico. The student who is Committees of the Phoenix Band and of the Ionian Literary Society have been working together for some time formulating plans for the annual Parents' Week-End, sponsored each year by these societies. The week-end will extend from Friday evening, April 24 to Sunday afternoon, April 26.

The program will open with an all-college skate on Friday evening. The evening will be featured by a basketball game on roller skates between teams chosen from the membership of the two societies. Refreshments and music will be provided.

Saturday morning will be occupied by the usual Dads vs. Daughters baseball game, while the afternoon will be filled by the tennis match and track meet with Ball State Teachers' College.

Following dinner Saturday evening, a brief open-house will be held in the two dormitories. At 8:30 o'clock p. m., a program will be presented in Goddard Auditorium.

As the main feature of this program aspirants to Mask and Mantle will present a one-act play, "The Trysting Place." This play is being coached by Betty Stewart, '32, and advance reports assure an enjoyable performance. The cast includes:

OVER THE TOP

The Earlham community is to be congratulated for the response made to the drive for funds to send a goodwill envoy to the University of Mexico during the summer session. The goal of slightly over $300 was raised on the first day, an accomplishment which is truly remarkable. The committee in charge had set apart three days in which they hoped to raise the needed amount, but their efforts were rewarded by a generous response on the part of student organizations, the students themselves, and the faculty, which made the task a lighter one for the two extra days set aside for the drive.

This project is one of the finest manifestations of the "Earlham spirit." Not only does it represent an interest on the part of the student body in international relations, it also proves that the Earlham community is generous in its support of such worthy causes and is prompt in its response to a call for assistance.

Particular mention should be made of the work of Emily Jenkins and Howard Bartram as chairmen of the finance committee and publicity committees and to the International Forum through its president, Manfred Kuhn, for their initiative in putting the idea across to the Earlham student body.

The Junior class and the faculty deserve credit for exceeding their budgeted amounts, while the sophomore class is to be congratulated for contributing such a large sum in the face of an expensive banquet. Mask and Mantle made a fine voluntary contribution which aided materially in the success of the drive.

The Earlham students and faculty have accomplished something remarkable in the past week by putting this Mexican project drive "over the top."

INVITE YOUR PARENTS

Ionian and Phoenix Societies are two of the oldest and best-established organizations on the campus. In the course of their long history they have contributed much to Earlham College. Of recent years one of the happiest and most beneficial enterprises of these two societies has been the annual sponsoring of a week-end devoted to the parents of the student body—a week-end in which parents may visit their sons and daughters at Earlham and recall, perhaps, their own days on our campus.

This year the week-end is to extend from Friday evening, April 24th to Sunday afternoon, April 26th, and should be an event of real significance—an opportunity for us to welcome our parents to our college home and to help them to renew their old associations at Earlham. The week-end should be an outstanding occasion in our college careers—an occasion to be enjoyed to the full at the time and looked back upon in retrospect with genuine appreciation and emotion.

Our parents and our friends are welcome to our college. They are always welcome, but on this week-end we shall be prepared to offer them particular attention and entertainment.

The members of the student body should see to it that this invitation is accepted by their parents. It lies within the students' power to make this week-end a success.

Y. M. EMPLOYMENT BUREAU SEEKS WORK FOR MEN

Employment Bureau of Earlham Y. M. C. A. Secures Odd Jobs For Students

One of the most practical services which the Y. M. C. A. renders its members is the providing of jobs through its employment bureau. An effort is made to aid as many men as possible who desire work in order to pay their tuition and earn spending money during the school year.

It has been extremely difficult to carry on this work to a great extent during the past winter because of business conditions which have made every job a prize sought for by many out of work.

An effort is now being made, however, through the employment bureau of the Y. M. C. A. to secure as many odd jobs for Earlham men in the few remaining weeks as possible.

Persons desiring any type of work done by college men should communicate with Orville Johnson or phone the Dean's office. A similar work carried on by the Y. W. C. A. is cared for by Esther Winters.

POST SCRIPTS

By MALCOLM JOLLIFF, '33

The casual visitor to Earlham's fair campus misses, no doubt, many of the most interesting side lights of college life as it is lived here. Among the most intriguing of these sidelights are the intramural—every student a participant—sports. Of course, the casual visitor is not to be blamed for the oversight as probably not one student in ten recognizes the sports, as such, even though he witnesses them every day and sometimes participates in them himself. It is our purpose in this short article to give to these sports the publicity they have so righteously earned.

At the top of the list we have, since the track season is upon us, footracing. Perhaps we are safe in saying that in no other college in the United States is this time honored sport so well developed as here in our own dear Earlham. Three times a week the squad of walking racers meet to have an informal contest among themselves. Prizes are awarded to those whose perfection of form and rigid adherence to training rules has enabled them to come in winners.

The prizes are in the form of choice places in the lunch line. Sterling performances are turned in weekly by such outstanding stars as Jim Moore, William Colley, Cleveland Collier, Jim Stanley and Lon Seale, among the boys, and Peg Harold, Allison Rush, Jessamine Roberts and Mae Chao, among the girls.

Another major sport is the daily contest for the Indianapolis Star and Item newspapers. This interesting diversion is staged each morning within the sacred confines of the Earlham library. Competition is noticeably keener when the heroes or heroines (as the case may be) of the comic strips are having unusually exciting adventures. This sport has as yet developed no outstanding performers. However, Johnnie Metcalf and Brenton Harrison staged an extremely close battle on Monday morning, March 6, for possession of the Indianapolis Star.

There are several minor sports around the campus. One of particular note, as spring rounds the corner, is that of endurance sitting on tombstones on warm moonlight nights. Aquatic sports are not neglected, there being two main divisions to this sport. Division number one being the try for capacity indulged in by various tables at dinner. The present record is something like 15 pitchers of water at one sitting. The waitress at your table wishes it distinctly understood that she is NOT sponsoring this sport.

Division number two of aquatic sports is classed under the head of plain and fancy ducking. This, in turn, is divided into three parts, junior (which consists of such tricks as sloshing a glass of water on your room-mate to assist him in awakening); senior (under which is classed such gigantic enterprises as getting out the fire hose to administer thorough sousing to anyone who happens to be in the vicinity); and, intermediate, (The class that includes the old standby of playfully emptying a fire bucketfull of water on conversationally inclined groups that pick on any one of the three door steps of Bundy Hall to hold their little informal meetings.)

Although we could go on indefinitely describing such minor sports as dinner-table carousing, cross-campus running (in which you try to make a class in the basement of Bundy from one on the top floor of Carpenter), etc. Our space for this week has been exhausted. We regret to say that we do not have at hand the names of the leaders in the minor sports, but perhaps it is just as well. We trust that our humble efforts have opened your eyes to some of the more popular diversions on the campus. Anyone having more news of such intramural sports should get in touch with the Shorts on Campus Sports editor, care of the Earlham Post.

Richmond Palladium Furnishes Radio Hook-Up for Broadcast

VALIANT ON FRIDAY

Mask and Mantle has had a spirited week with its presentation of one-act plays in the many neighboring towns, and its rehearsal schedules for a forthcoming radio broadcast and the spring production.

A week ago the cast of "Rosalie" journeyed to Cambridge City and returned looking successful enough to warrant the exodus of "Red Carnations" and its trio of principals to the township of Boston. The club is convening for an open meeting Wednesday night, at which time "Spreading the News" will be set forth for its inspection and approval.

The date of the broadcast of "The Valiant" in the state wide contest of one-act plays has been moved up to Friday the 17th. The program will come over the Fort Wayne station, and the college is urged to "listen-in."

Due to the generosity of the Palladium, the cast is being allowed to practice over a radio hook-up as preparation for the event.

Rehearsals for "Children of the Moon," the Mask and Mantle spring play, will begin Sunday, and much time is to be expended on the schedule.

INTRAMURAL MEET TAKEN BY SENIORS

Classes Pitted Against One- Another in Track Contest

The interclass track meet held last Saturday on Reid field in almost perfect weather, was topped in fine style by the class of '31. Four members, Ralph Oesting, track captain, Bill Cain, Charles Peterson, and Bill Stanton amassed a total of 64 points to eclipse the best efforts of the juniors, in second place, by 8 points.

Hard on the juniors' heels were the frosh, led by J. Barrett, Moore, Cope, Bower, and Snyder. The sophomores, greatly handicapped by the lack of entrants trailed the freshmen by 34 points. Schneidewind, Maze, Sell, and Kastetter placed for the sophs.

The junior class led in the number of entrants scoring. Ten members of this class succeeded in placing for points. Routh, Kirkpatrick, Swallow, Hollett, Lindley, and Seale gathered the lion's share of the juniors' points.

The score of the meet remained: seniors, 62; juniors, 54; freshmen, 52, sophomores, 18.

In addition to furnishing a great deal of sport, the meeting served a greater purpose in allowing Coach Gullion to get a much better idea of his squad than would be otherwise possible. Coach Gullion expressed complete satisfaction with the meet as an aid to classifying the abilities of the men on the squad.

Sawin's performance in the mile was one of the features of the day. He overtook Routh on the back stretch in the last lap and showed a surprising stamina in his maintenance of a fast pace to the finish line.

Gene Maze also turned in a star performance in the high jump, when he cleared the bar at five feet eleven inches. Earlham looks to him to bring home a lot of first places in this event.

Swallow's surprise win in the high hurdles was another event that gave spectators a thrill. Charlie, however, is not on the track team this year.

Jack Carter Wrests Coveted Fifth Berth on Tennis Team in Elimination Tournament

The first tennis match of the season which was scheduled for last Saturday at Wittenberg College was called off by the athletic officials of Wittenberg. All their intercollegiate contests in tennis and track have been called off for this spring because of lack of funds.

The positions on the Earlham team have all been decided upon for the first match. The first four players have had varsity experience in college tennis circles, while Jack Carter, the winner of the elimination tournament for the fifth berth has had experience on the Westtown team and has taken training under a Philadelphia professional. With additional practice during this week the team hopes to show up well in the Antioch match on the Earlham courts on April 17.

ORATIONS FOR PEACE CONTEST ARE ANNOUNCED

Twenty-five Dollars Will be Awarded to Winner of First Place; State Contest at Central Earlham's representative to the state peace oratorical contest to be held at Indiana Central on May 1 will be chosen from six participants in the finals of the local contest to be held in Goddard auditorium on Monday night, April 20.

In addition to the honor of representing the college in the state contest, the winner of first place will be awarded a cash prize of $25. Twenty dollars will be given to the person placing second, and $10 to the winner of third place.

Those taking part in the final contest in the order in which they speak are: Donald McKinney, who will talk on the "Barriers to Peace"; Joseph Ellis, whose subject is the "Cost of War"; Leonard Kenworthy, who will discuss the "Power of Moral Coersion"; Robert Parsons, who will plead for "A Fair Trial of the League"; Eugene Maze, whose oration is on the "League of Nations"; and Elizabeth Peacock, on the subject of "Our Task."

Members of the faculty will be judges for the occasion.

GESANGVEREIN CHOOSES HOLE AS PRESIDENT

Mabel Edgerton, '34, is Elected Secretary-Treasurer; New Officers Are Active Members

The Gesangverein, a club organized for singing of German songs, met Thursday at 11:40 a. m. to discuss plans for the coming year. The club is a new feature on the campus this year, and has proved far more successful than the German Club of former years.

Besides learning songs, the Gesangverein has enjoyed solos by gifted singers, talks on German people and German customs. Earlier in the year, the club successfully produced a Christmas play "Krippenspiel," the lines of which were spoken entirely in German.

Francis Hole, '33, who has been an active member of the Gesangverein, was elected president of the club for next year. He is a member of the college orchestra, and has accompanied the songs this year on the violin. His musical ability, together with his interest in German, qualifies him for the presidency. Mabel Edgerton, who also has shown much interest in the club, was elected secretary-treasurer.

These officers replaced Leonard Kenworthy and Agnes Calvert.

IN THE MAIL

OUR MEXICAN PROJECT IS CRITICIZED

To the Editor of the Earlham Post:

Three hundred dollars would keep many of the hundreds of families that are almost starving in Richmond a good many days, yet the liberal student body of Earlham sends this sum of money many miles away.

Although those sponsoring the project say it is not primarily an advertising medium for Earlham, I say it is parallel in importance to any other object in view. How much more it would mean to Earlham to have published in the local papers that three hundred dollars had been given to charitable organizations. It would almost be a sensational item, and at least something unusual.

How can one student from Earlham create a better understanding between Mexico and the United States?

Needless to say, I did not wear a Mexican flag, but looked ever to the stars and stripes.

FRESHMAN PICNIC TO TO BE AT LAKE WEHI

The freshman class has planned the first spring picnic of the year to be held Friday, April 17, at Lake Wehi. Trucks will convey the members of the class, at 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, to the lake, which is approximately 15 miles from the college.

Flashlights are advised as a treasure hunt will be featured. Arrangements are being made for boating, and other sports which will require old clothes.

General Electric Contributions to Health

Sunlamps are a popular feature of the swimming pool at Hotel St. George, Brooklyn, N. Y.

at College at Home
at Play

COLLEGE-TRAINED electrical engineers cooperated with the medical profession in developing G-E products that safeguard health. Notable among these are the x-ray tube, the G-E refrigerator, and the G-E Sunlamp. Of these three, the Sunlamp is the latest development, but it has already been acclaimed for its service in helping build that vitality which maintains the happiness of good health.

At Cornell University, members of "cold-prevention classes" (under daily, brief, ultra-violet-ray lamp treatments) reported 40 per cent less colds than were reported by classmates in a group without this treatment. Beyond home and college, the use of Sunlamps has extended to swimming pools and indoor golf courses. In the future, you may enjoy the Sunlamp as a standard fixture in offices, trains, clubs, and many other places where people gather.

And you may continue to expect new, unusual, and useful developments from G-E engineering and research. Among such products, there will doubtless be further contributions to personal health, comfort, and convenience, as well as to the promotion of industrial efficiency.

"The Trysting Place" is one of the happiest efforts of the famous Hoosier humorist, Booth Tarkington.

Sunday morning, April 26, is left open for the visitors to dispose of as they desire. A vesper service has been arranged for the afternoon.

The committee in charge of arrangements for Phoenix is composed of Elizabeth Riggs, chairman; Hannah Stapler, and Barbara Zook.

The members of Ionian's committee are Orville Johnson, chairman; Paul Miller, and David Dennis.

of Fisk University, as all the Jubilee Singers have been.

The fact that these singers have appeared before King George, Queen Mary, Lady Astor, Mussolini, and other such international celebrities, verifies their reputation as the finest of their kind.

The greatest musicians in the country endorse them, and critics everywhere agree as to the perfection of their voice quality and their artistic powers. Roland Hays, the greatest Negro singer of the day, is a former member of this group.

It is exceedingly difficult for an ensemble to give a really satisfactory understanding of Negro spirituals. It is an art in itself to achieve a true representation of the "real thing."

This the Fisk Singers have done to the acme of perfection.

Proceeds from the sale of tickets will be handed over to the Richmond Social Service Bureau. Morton high school has contributed printed tickets as its donation. Thomas E. Jones, '12, was at Earlham to arrange the concert himself. The jubilee singers gave a performance in Indianapolis last night.

$300 RAISED BY FORUM

selected to go will study Economics, Sociology, Language, and other subjects that will give an insight into the culture of Mexico.

One of the most promising benefits that it is hoped will grow out of the trip, is the privilege the student will have in entering the Mexican Culture Seminar, a course not usually open to undergraduate students. This seminar course is backed by such men as John Dewey and Sherwood Eddy. The seminars will include the outstanding men of Mexico who will hold round-table discussions and conferences. It will also include trips to various places in Mexico for the study of the educational and judicial systems, and the arts and culture of the country.

The student-faculty scholarship committee in charge of the plans of the project and the nomination of the students for the election include Manford Kuhn, chairman and president of International Forum; Howard Bartram, chairman of finance; Emily Jenkins, advertising; Russell Carter, Eleanor Wildman, Margaret Harold, Dr. Dennis, Dr. Markle, and Miss Thomas. Six students will be nominated by this committee on Friday April 17. The student body will elect one of these on Monday, April 20. While Monday chapel is tentative for April 20, it is hoped that President Dennis will be able to speak on some aspect of Mexico.

Last Wednesday, International Forum presented a most interesting chapel program. A trio composed of Mildred Thomas, Ruth Roland and Mildred Fox, played two Spanish dances. Manford Kuhn spoke briefly outlining the plans of the project, the purpose, and what the college might accomplish and gain by it. Miss Thomas, who is familiar with the life of the Mexicans, gave an illustrated lecture showing Mexican life, and points of interest there, including views of the University of Mexico. The national anthem of Mexico was sung as the concluding number on the program by Ted Kirkpatrick, Gwendolyn Craver, and Robert Taylor, accompanied by Margaret Harold.

The afternoon following chapel was spent in individual solicitation among students by the sale of small Mexican flags. A huge twelve foot thermometer placed at the end of the heart had run over the top by Wednesday night. The co-operation of the entire student body in this drive was outstanding in enabling the fund to be raised in so short a time. A list of the groups and their gifts to the project is listed elsewhere in this issue.

The International Forum hopes to lay a foundation by this project which will lead to the permanent establishment of exchange scholarships with other nations. Earlham at the present time, has no exchange scholarships with other foreign nations. With the traditions of fellowship, the religious atmosphere, and the friendliness that is attached to Earlham's name and history, the Forum is very desirous of seeing exchange scholarships established, in order that we share these ideals with other nations. The Forum is working with a definite goal in mind to establish such scholarships between Earlham and colleges in France, Germany, and Austria.

MODEL LEAGUE

delegates of the various nations attending. These addresses dealt with the work of the League of Nations during the past year and set forth the views of the delegates and of their respective nations upon certain matters of international importance.

The proposed Austro-German customs union was discussed at some length, and Millikan urged the assembly to lay aside their old-world suspicions and enter upon a vigorous and honest policy of international disarmament.

Following these addresses the plenary session of the League was adjourned and the delegates retired to committees.

In the evening, members of the assembly heard an address by Bishop Paul Jones of Antioch College, who recently spoke to students at Earlham in connection with the institute of human relations.

The following morning, after a brief talk by Mr. John S. Moore of Dayton, Ohio, upon the work and the organization of the League of Nations, the plenary meeting of the assembly was again called to order. The resolutions adopted by the various committees were submitted to the assembly. A spirited debate followed in which members of many delegations took part. Recommendations concerning suppression of the opium traffic and the furthering of the 1932 arms conference were accepted. Agreement could not be reached concerning the proposed Austro-German customs union, nor the proposed lending of economic assistance to a non-aggressor nation in the event of conflict. The latter resolution was defeated by the vote of the "Canadian" delegation from Earlham.

The 1931 session of the Model League Assembly closed with discussion of plans for 1932. It was decided to hold the 1932 session at Ohio University at Athens, Ohio. At this time also the Earlham delegation extended a general invitation to the Institute of Polity to be held at Earlham on May 14, 15, and 16.

at once novel and attractive. The lighting effects and make-up were splendid, particularly the latter. Let us compliment the Dramatic Arts Class on its excellent sustenance of illusion, unhampered by gaudy, grease-paint.

All too seldom is such effect obtained. Aside from some small breaks alone appreciated by those of us who have tasted the joys and drunk deep of the sorrows of amateur productions, the piece rolled exceedingly well. The tempo was good and the cues rapid enough to warrant credit.

Hurst Shoemaker as Fred Minick, turned in a reasonably good performance, though he failed to build up his climax scenes in support of his wife. Ann Edmunds, in the role of the wife, Nettie Minick, played excellently and quite won the entire house. There was a sincerity about her work which matched-up well with the playing of Old Man Minick. She built up her climax extremely well and gave just the right shade of transition from her feigned cordiality to her bare emotions.

The acting honors go, of course, to John Chenoweth in the title role. He was sincere at all times and did some magnificent under-playing which we are sure was either a skillful touch of the directors or an unusually fine invention of his own mind. Surely it was written in no script. The pantomime scenes were executed with rare good taste, and we felt at all times that here was an actor who had grasped his part and had both feet on the ground. Mr. Chenoweth should go far in college dramatic circles.

Miss Ballard and Miss Chao gave able performances and built up their work beautifully. This was the first time we had seen Miss Chao on the Earlham stage but we have very pleasant memories of miss Ballard's work in "The Underdog." Milus Reiff and Harper Brown turned in two very humorous character bits and played them well. The clubwomen worked well together and added much to the confusion of the second act.

Dorothy Bluemel and Don Moore were entertaining as the flashy young couple who could fix the world if the chance were given them. We appreciate the telephone conversations during the general excitement; both Miss Bluemel and Miss Ballard handled this business well and sustained the hubbub amazingly accurately. Mr. Cain as Jim Corey, and Carolyn Rice, as Annie, contributed adequate performances to a nicely unified whole.

The production struck us as being extremely capably managed. The machinery worked as nearly like clock work as possible considering that the entire stage crew was new to the game, and aside from a premature curtain which caught the director slightly unawares, and which was manipulated by someone who should have known better, there were few flaws. It was, in our opinion, one of the best Dramatic Arts productions seen here for a while, and the class deserves much credit. The play was directed by Prof. Howard C. Morgan, assisted by Marjorie N. Hunt.
